NAVY OFFERED SHIPYARD SHUT BY CIO STRIKE

Firm Fights Closed Shop Demand.

New York, Aug. 11 (AP).—The Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock company announced today it had offered its strikebound shipyard at Kearny, N. J., to the navy department "for immediate possession and operation."

The company said it had sent the following telegram to Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox:

"In the interests of national defense we hereby offer our shipyard at Kearny, N. J., to the navy department for immediate possession and operation. The yard has been closed for four days by a strike which involves no issue but the maintenance of the open shop. We are unwilling to abandon the defense of the freedom of the American worker to choose whether he will belong to a union or not. We will fully cooperate with you in making this offer effective."

Asked Previously by Union.

The telegram was signed by L. H. Korndorff, president of the company.

A navy spokesman at Washington announced tonight that Secretary Knox had scheduled a meeting there tomorrow with Korndorff. The spokesman said the department would withhold comment on the offer until after the meeting.

Government operation of the plant was requested Friday by Peter Flynn, vice president of Local 16 of the CIO Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers.

"We want, however, guarantees that our collective bargaining rights will not be impaired by the transition," Flynn said today in Kearny.

After making public the telegram, the company set forth its position in the following statement:

"At midnight last Wednesday an unjustified strike was called at our shipyard at Kearny, by Local 16 of the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America in violation of the union's recent agreement outlawing strikes in our yards for a period of two years—a strike having for its sole purpose the enforcement of the union's demand for a closed shop.

Issue Termed Vital.

"In our opinion the issue involved in this strike is of vital importance to this nation and the best interests of all our citizens. That issue is whether the American worker shall be permitted to retain his traditional freedom of action and be allowed to determine for himself whether or not he shall belong to a labor union.

"In our judgment no union should be permitted to use the present national emergency as a club to attain its own selfish ends thru forcing industry to accept the closed shop. If the union is successful in this instance, a similar contest is almost certain to follow in all other Atlantic coast shipyards soon spreading to defense industries in general.

"The closed shop has no legitimate connection with national defense. Its aim is purely selfish—namely, to enhance and perpetuate the power of the union."

Opposes Union Dictation.

"Furthermore, we believe that a right on the part of the union to dictate that an employé shall not be permitted to work in our shipyard unless he maintains his union membership in good standing will seriously interfere with our efficient operations of the yard and with a successful fulfillment of our defense contracts. Such a right to dictate is thoroly undemocratic and contrary to long established American principles of individual freedom of action. If these principles are to be fundamentally altered and the closed shop made a mandatory national labor policy it should be brought about by act of congress.

"When one thoroly believes in the right and soundness of his convictions and furthermore that these convictions are distinctly in the public interest, there can be no compromise with principle. Accordingly, this company could not conscientiously accept the recommendation of two members constituting a majority of a division of the National Defense Mediation board, one additional member dissenting, that this company voluntarily accede to the union's demand for a closed shop."

Visitor Drives Into Town and Gets Bumped

J. W. Yates, a business man from Philadelphia, Pa., told this story yesterday of his experience with the law in Chicago:

J. W. Yates.

At 9:30 p. m. Saturday he drove past the Museum of Science and Industry and approached the Outer drive. He was awaiting the traffic policeman's signal to proceed when another automobile struck him from behind.

The policeman ordered the other driver to halt, but the driver went on. Yates took the motorist's license number, which he gave to the policeman.

Story of His Experiences.

Events in chronological order after that were:

9:10 a. m. yesterday—Yates went to a city police station to ask if the driver had been arrested. He was told to ask the park police, since they direct traffic on the Outer drive.

9:30 a. m.—He called at the Lincoln Park police station, where he was told that the police were powerless to arrest the driver under the law, even tho the driver had disobeyed a policeman's order and fled, unless Yates obtained a warrant. The warrant, he was advised, could be obtained at the Traffic [Safety] court in the Criminal courts building.

Finds He Is Too Late.

10:30 a. m.—Yates reached court and asked for a warrant. "You should have been here before 9 o'clock," he was told. The Philadelphian explained that he was from out of town and time was short. A court attaché sent him to the bailiff's office. There he was told to go back to the court clerk. In court again, he was told he would have to wait until court was over or return before 9 this morning.

10:50 a. m.—He telephoned the Chicago office of his motor club, which informed him there was no way of speeding the arrest.

11:05 a. m.—He telephoned THE TRIBUNE, which supplied the name and address of the motorist to whom the license was issued, altho Yates previously had been assured that this could be obtained only in Springfield. He was advised to call the park police again. He did, but got no further than before. Then Yates began his business calls.

Park Chief Informed.

4:55 p. m.—Chief Roger Shanahan of the park police was informed of the case.

4:57 p. m.—Chief Shanahan sent Lieut. James Hermanek to take a full report from Yates in his room in the Sheridan Plaza hotel. The lieutenant explained that the law prevented him from making an arrest without a warrant.

12 midnight—Yates still was determined to have his man arrested, even tho it meant neglecting his business again today. He was not injured in the accident, and the damage to his car was no more than $20. But he said he feels it his duty to prosecute what he regards as a hit-and-run case, and he wonders if something can be wrong with the machinery of the law.

AMERICA MUST HOLD DOCTORS IN READINESS AT HOME, BRITAIN TOLD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The Evening Standard said today that because of the present situation, particularly in the far east, it is felt that America will need to maintain her medical services in a state of complete preparedness.

Thus, only a small proportion of the thousand physicians who were scheduled to come to Britain from the United States and elsewhere to serve in the Royal Army Medical corps will be available, the Standard said.

The paper urged that it is more necessary than ever for Britain to rationalize her medical manpower.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 11.—A trial involving 350 persons accused of illegal trading and war profiteering was closed today. Sentence of death was passed upon the arch culprit, 43 year old Ernst Albig.

Albig was alleged to have falsified an order for margarine and other rationed fats, thus obtaining possession of 75,000 pounds of beef fat and 157,000 pounds of margarine that he sold at profiteer prices.

The 349 others were fined or imprisoned.

British Convoy Betrayal Laid to U.S. Woman

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—A Dies committee investigator today reported that Nancy Reed, New York state labor department employé, was "tipping off" information on the movement of British convoys prior to the outbreak of war between Russia and Germany while the two countries were allies.

The investigator, Stephen W. Birmingham, gave this testimony in answer to a question by Chief Investigator J. B. Matthews during a committee hearing on Miss Reed's alleged communistic activities.

"Do you have indisputable information," asked Matthews, "that Nancy Reed, prior to the outbreak of war between Russia and Germany, was tipping off information on the movement of British convoys?"

"I do," Birmingham replied.

Charges Spying on Ships.

Matthews then told the committee that Miss Reed was "known to have been engaged in very definite espionage activities regarding the sailing of convoys. Individuals known to have contact with Nancy Reed have been taken off convoy ships by British authorities."

The committee also received testimony which Matthews declared "shows conclusively that Nancy Reed was and is a high functionary of the communist party." The evidence included a mass of letters and documents which Birmingham testified he unearthed behind a 70th street tenement house in New York and in the middle of the night underneath two houses owned by Miss Reed's mother and sister at Sandwich on Cape Cod, Mass.

Dismissed by State.

Godfrey Schmidt, deputy industrial commissioner of New York, told the committee Miss Reed had been dismissed effective Aug. 15 under a New York statute which bars civil service employment rolls to persons who advocate the attainment of political objectives by force of other illegal means.

The case was presented by Birmingham, a former New York detective, after Chairman Joe Starnes [D., Ala.] of the subcommittee announced she had ignored a subpena.

AGREE TO PUSH 2½ YEAR LIMIT IN FIGHT TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—Democratic members of the house military affairs committee today abandoned all hope of persuading the house to vote to extend indefinitely the service of citizen soldiers and other army personnel. They agreed on an amendment to the pending army service bill which would limit to 2½ years the total active duty of draftees and National Guardsmen.

The administration compromise will be offered tomorrow and a final vote on the army service legislation probably will be reached before the house adjourns tomorrow night. The 2½ year proposal, which would permit President Roosevelt to add not more than 18 months to the active service of citizen soldiers, is identical with the compromise adopted by the senate last week.

Administration Efforts Fail.

The compromise was agreed on after the administration had turned the heat on wavering congressmen to get the service period of citizen soldiers extended indefinitely. These efforts were unsuccessful, and even the 2½ year compromise proposal faces a close and doubtful vote, according to house leaders.

Privately the administration leaders admitted the possibility of a further compromise to a one year, or even a six month extension, a conference committee it was predicted would split the difference between the senate and house bills. It was suggested that a house vote for six months undoubtedly would result in a conference agreement and ultimate legislation providing for a one year extension.

Minority Agrees on Plan.

Minority members of the house military affairs committee agreed at a separate meeting to oppose any extension of the service of draftees beyond the one year period for which they were inducted. They agreed to offer an amendment permitting the President to extend for 12 months the service of National Guardsmen, retired personnel, reserve officers, and regular army enlisted men, but exempting draftees.

The Republicans also agreed to oppose a provision of the resolution which would lift the existing limitation of 900,000 on the number of draftees that may be in service at one time.

Hull Sounds a Warning.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull sought to gain votes for the administration bill by sounding a note of alarm. He told his press conference that failure of the draft extension legislation would have "an exceedingly bad psychological effect on the American position in the international situation." In fact, he said, it would affect adversely the international situation itself.

All kinds of log rolling and wire pulling are being invoked to get votes for the administration bill. One story of log rolling is that the administration expects to gain the votes of members from nine states with community property tax laws in return for the potent aid given by the administration in knocking out of the tax bill the requirement of joint income tax returns by husband and wife.

Hoffman Cautions Colleagues.

Opponents of the draft extension were congratulating Representative Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.] today for his action in sending a letter to each of his colleagues in the house warning them of the dire political consequences they can expect if they vote to extend the terms of the draftees.

"If you don't watch your step, your political hide, which is very near and dear to you, will be tanning on the barn door," Hoffman wrote to the other members. "Do not be deceived by offers of compromise. A determined effort will be made to sugar coat this bill. But poison is poison, no matter how pleasant to the taste nor how small the dose. If you don't want your scalp drying at your political opponent's campfire, watch your step."

CLAIM GERMANS NOW ADVANCE ON KIEV AND ODESSA

German troops were reported early today to be advancing along broad highways straight for Kiev, Ukraine capital, and toward Odessa, important port on the Black sea. Retreating Russian troops were being blasted steadily by waves of planes as they jammed roads in the southern bread basket of the soviet, it was said.

Russian cavalry was reported racing en masse to the Ukraine to block the Nazi drive as the high command, in its communique, told of continued fighting in the areas mentioned for several days: Soltsi, near Leningrad; Smolensk, on the road to Moscow, and Bel Tserkov and Uman, south of Kiev.

Moscow was raided for the 17th time, but only a few planes were reported to have reached the city.

Art of Living Becomes Feat in Washington

BY MARCIA WINN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—The vast army of government workers gathered here has altered every aspect of life in the once tranquil capital of America.

Living no longer is an art. It is a feat. Business is so unprecedentedly good that no one wants your business. If you eat in a restaurant you await your turn in line. If you go into a shop, you wait on yourself and corral a clerk later. If you send out your laundry it may come home within a week. If you have a toothache you may have it treated next week.

3,000 a Week Pour In.

The explanation is statistical: Washington contained 64,000 government workers in 1930. In May, 1940, it contained 137,294. In May, 1941, it contained 183,875. Since May, more have been coming at the rate of 3,000 a week.

These figures do not include any one in the military service. The military figure is a confidential, closely guarded quantity, last estimated at 9,870. Its ranks are increasing daily. Few note it, as no uniforms are worn here. The admirals of the fleet, the generals of the army, the underlings of the Marine corps all are in civilian clothes.

Early this summer a general order, effective Aug. 1, was under consideration. Under its terms, all service men in Washington would appear in uniform. In the interim some one suggested that such a mass of uniforms would look militaristic, and the order has not gone thru. "The country" a spokesman said, "is not ready for it yet."

Crime Increases Rapidly.

Traffic became so congested morning and night that the government was forced to stagger its working hours. Even so, seats are at a premium on buses and street cars, and driving is an inching nightmare.

Crime has increased so rapidly that women are afraid to go out alone at night. With an estimated three-fourths of the vast workers' army composed of women, many of them young girls, sex crimes are no longer even novel; nor are they solved. Purses are snatched in broad daylight on such populous thorofares as Pennsylvania avenue or 14th street. Women motorists drive with windows tightly closed.

There is reason for their caution. Most of the crime victims have been women or girls. Since March, two have been raped and murdered, and three others were terrorized and raped. These are the publicized cases.

Bride Attacked and Killed.

One of the victims was the bride of an examiner for the Social Security board. She was attacked and choked to death in her honeymoon apartment on March 8. On June 16 an Iowa girl, employed in the war department, was strangled and raped in a garage. Her nude body was found several hours later. A few days earlier an 18 year old girl was raped and her soldier escort's throat slashed. On June 25, a tailoring shop clerk was raped by a gunman. Only last Wednesday a Negro raped the 15 year old daughter of a patent office official.

A veteran government clerk, who has seen the Washington transition, said she would not let a daughter of hers come to Washington if for no

RESERVE BOARD TOLD TO CHECK PRICE INFLATION

Law of World War Days Invoked.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—Sweeping authority to regulate and restrict the nation's 10,000 million dollar a year instalment credit business was delegated to the federal reserve board today by an executive order signed by President Roosevelt and made public by the White House.

Marriner S. Eccles.

The restrictions on instalment buying will affect purchases of automobiles and other so-called consumers' durable goods of especial interest to housewives, such as refrigerators, stoves, washing machines, vacuum cleaners, furniture, and similar products.

Prompt Action Planned.

The President's executive order expressly excepts from the reserve board's regulating authority any "residential building in its entirety." Thus it will not interfere with the instalment credit financing of homes.

Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the board of governors of the federal reserve system, announced initial regulations to control instalment buying will be issued "as promptly as possible following consultation with representatives of the trade and financial institutions affected."

Altho the executive order gives the board authority to prohibit as well as to regulate instalment credit transactions, informed sources said the initial regulations would undertake merely to control such transactions by placing limitations on the amount of down payments and the time permitted for instalment payments.

Purposes Are Listed.

The President moved to curtail instalment buying, according to the preamble of his executive order, for the following purposes:

1. To facilitate the transfer of productive resources to preparedness industries.

2. To assist in curbing unwarranted price advances and profiteering which tend to result when the supply of such goods is curtailed without corresponding curtailment of demand.

3. To assist in restraining general inflationary tendencies, to support or supplement taxation imposed to restrain such tendencies and to promote the accumulation of savings available for financing the arms program.

4. To aid in creating a backlog of demand for consumers' durable goods.

5. To restrain the development of a consumer debt structure that would repress effective demand for goods and services in the post-armaments period.

Invokes Trade with Enemy Act.

As authority for his order the President invoked the so-called trading with the enemy act of Oct. 6, 1917. This was the law under which Mr. Roosevelt acted March 6, 1933, when he suspended gold payments and closed all the banks in the country. Many legal experts challenged the President's authority, but congress, on March 9, legalized his action by passing the so-called emergency banking act of 1933 as an amendment to the World war "trading with the enemy act."

The 1917 law, as amended, provides that "during time of war or during any other period of national emergency," the President, among other things, may investigate, regulate and prohibit transfers of credit in any form. The act authorizes punishment by imprisonment for not more than 10 years and a fine of not more than $10,000 for violations of regulations issued by the President or his agents.

The executive order designated the federal reserve board as the agency thru which credit transactions "shall be investigated, regulated and prohibited."

Coördinate Board's Functions.

For the purpose of coördinating the board's functions with other activities of the government, the President designated a committee consisting of Henry Morgenthau Jr., secretary of the treasury; Jesse H. Jones, federal loan administrator and secretary of commerce; and Leon Henderson, chief of the Office of Price Administration [price fixing] and Civilian Supply.

"The board shall maintain liaison with the committee, and in formulating policies with respect to down payments, maturities, terms of repayment, and other such questions of general policy shall consult with the committee and take into consideration any suggestions or recommendations it may make," the executive order states.

Make Appropriate Provisions.

The board may from time to time make appropriate provisions with respect to:

1. The maximum amount of credit which may be extended on, or in connection with any purchase of, any consumers' durable goods;

2. The maximum maturity, minimum periodic payments, and maximum periods between payments, which may be stipulated in connection with extensions of credit;

3. The methods of determining purchase prices or market values or other bases for computing permissible extensions of credit or required down payments; and

4. Special or different terms, conditions, or exemptions with respect to new or used goods, minimum original cash payments, temporary credits which are merely incidental to cash purchases, payment, or deposits usable to liquidate credits, and other adjustments or special situations.

On and after the effective date of any regulation prescribed by the board with respect to any extension of credit all transfers and payments which are in violation of such regulation are prohibited to the extent specified in such regulation.

Won't Hit Open Book Accounts.

According to federal reserve board officials, the current instalment credit rate is about 10,000 million dollars a year, which is 2,000 million dollars more than it was in 1929 and 1,500 million dollars more than in 1937.

Chairman Eccles said the initial regulations would not apply to so-called "open book accounts." These are accounts such as a housewife uses at the corner grocery store when she buys food on credit and pays up at the first of the month. Neither will the first regulation affect straight loans, payable at one time and in one payment, Eccles said.

CANADA'S NAVAL HEADS IN LONDON FOR DISCUSSIONS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 11.—Angus L. MacDonald, Canadian minister for naval services, and Rear Admiral Percy Nelles, chief of the Canadian naval staff, arrived in London today for a discussion of naval problems.

MacDonald reported Canada was building destroyers and a million tons of merchant ships to be launched next year.

"If there is trouble in the Pacific we shall dispose our navy to the best advantage," he declared, adding that Canada had "some ships there now."

Meanwhile, assurances that "the United States would take the lead in any action in the Pacific, whether diplomatic or warlike in character" were given in the Daily Mail. "We are well content with this," it said in an editorial.

Declaring that "the situation in the far east is nearly at flash point," the newspaper said that while "hitherto American action against Japan has been of an economic character, the next few days will disclose what further steps she is prepared to take."

29 DENY PLOT TO REVOLT; FIGHT U. S. INDICTMENT

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 11 (AP).—Protesting they were indicted under a law enacted in 1861 and never used since, 29 persons indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of seditious conspiracy pleaded innocent today in federal court.

Albert Goldman, a defendant but acting as co-defense counsel, told the court examination of the indictments showed the first count was based on a Civil war law and that the second count was based on a 1940 law which was not yet tested in court.

Among the 29 indicted, all said to be members of the Socialist Workers' party, are the Dunne brothers—Miles, Vincent, and Grant—heads of the CIO faction of General Drivers union, No. 544. The indictments followed raids on the Twin City headquarters of the Socialist Workers' party when federal agents said they seized quantities of seditious literature. The grand jury charged that the 29 plotted the overthrow of the government by armed revolution.

Blaze Sweeps Farmers' Mill and Office Building

The McHenry County Farmers' Co-operative association mill and office building at McHenry burned to the ground yesterday, shortly after a severe electrical storm swept the community. Lightning is believed to have ignited the two story frame structure, which was filled to capacity with barley, oats, corn, and mill feed. Firemen from Woodstock and McHenry kept flames from spreading to adjoining buildings.

TROOPS ADVANCE ON ODESSA AND KIEV, NAZIS SAY

Planes Blast Retreating Reds on Roads.

BERLIN, Aug. 12 [Tuesday]—(AP).—German troops now are advancing on "well paved broad highways leading straight to Kiev," capital of the Ukraine, while others are striking southward toward the Black sea port of Odessa, German news dispatches said today. Southern Ukraine highways were said to be jammed with retreating Russians—blasted steadily by waves of German planes.

How far the Germans were from these objectives was not disclosed, but Berlin announced the capture of Korosten, 80 miles northwest of Kiev, several days ago, and troops also have been attacking 50 miles south of Kiev in the neighborhood of Bel Tserkov.

Industrial Area Also Goal.

A reported breakthru south of Uman, midway between Kiev and Odessa, put the Germans in a position to swing south toward Odessa, while the next most logical goal to the east was Dnepropetrovsk, Red industrial center 200 miles from Uman.

One German dispatch from the front said rail connections in the southern Ukraine area were broken, with seven trains damaged, derailed or burned. Several Russian troop ships along the lower Bug river were said to have been heavily damaged. Germans reported 23 Russian planes downed in air fights in the Ukraine and only one German plane lost.

Intensity of the fighting was evident in DNB, official news agency, dispatches that 4,000 Russians were buried at one highway intersection. At one place 54 tanks and 300 trucks were reported demolished by planes, with "most of the occupants dying in their vehicles."

Among prisoners brought into German camps in the Ukraine were two corps commanders and two division commanders, DNB said.

Major Triumph Seen.

LONDON, Aug. 11 (AP).—The German army's double drive on the Black sea ports of Odessa and Nikolaevsk may become the reich's first major strategic triumph of the Russian campaign, informed quarters said tonight and soviet sources were worried.

The Russians say that German occupation of these important ports might open the way to sea borne attack on the Caucasian oil fields across the sea to the southeast. Should combined land and sea offensives fail, they predict that the Nazis will demand right of way thru Turkey to the Caucasus for an army reported massing in Bulgaria.

Finns Resume Drive.

HELSINGFORS, Aug. 11 (AP).—Finnish forces have resumed their drive around the eastern shore of Lake Ladoga after killing several thousand entrapped Russians and destroying vast quantities of Red army supplies, the high command said.

GERMANS ADMIT RED FLYERS AGAIN STRIKE AT BERLIN

BERLIN, Aug. 12 [Tuesday] (AP).—Air raid sirens sounded again in Berlin during the night and distant gunfire could be heard in the city, but no hostile planes were heard over the capital itself. It was acknowledged officially that the thrust at Berlin was carried out by Russian planes, the third which soviet flyers have attempted. Only two soviet planes reached the vicinity of Berlin, the Germans said. Hostile planes [presumably British], it was said, also had attacked western Germany during the night, dropping bombs and causing damage.

A German navy "blockade breaker" [presumably an auxiliary warship] cooperated with anti-aircraft, patrol boats, and a minesweeper in shooting down 17 British planes in the English channel area Sunday, the German high command said yesterday. A long range plane was reported by DNB, official news agency, to have sunk an 18,000 ton British tanker from a convoy in the Atlantic 300 miles off Spain.

Americans in Action.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—A second American Eagle squadron has been formed in the royal air force and after going into action for the first time it claimed that it had "probably destroyed" a Junkers 88 dive bomber, the air ministry announced tonight.

City Electrician Killed Repairing Street Lights

Frank S. Scott, 47 years old, 6039 South Keating avenue, a city electrician, was electrocuted last night while repairing a street light at 63d street and South Park way. Woodlawn police said they believed the current was grounded thru his body—when he leaned against the metal pole in a perspiration soaked shirt. An inhalator squad strove for an hour to revive Scott.

Russian War Developments

FRENCH CABINET MEETS; TIE WITH U.S. 'UNCHANGED'

VICHY, France, Aug. 11 (AP).—French relations with Germany and the United States apparently remained unchanged tonight after a series of week-end conferences among leading members of the Vichy government, culminating in a full dress cabinet meeting today.

The authoritative Telemondial agency said that "so far as international questions are concerned [the most important of which for the moment are relations of France with Germany and the United States] one is unable to foresee new elements as far as France is concerned in the present state of affairs"—that is to say, the Russian war and general European implications.

There apparently is no question for the moment of the return of Pierre Laval, former vice premier, to power as urged by the German controled Paris press.

Gen. Maxime Weygand, North African commander, returned to his post.

SARACOGLU SEEN AS NEW PREMIER IN TURK SHAKEUP

ANKARA, Turkey, Aug. 11 (AP).—A major shakeup in the Turkish government was rumored in political quarters tonight, with Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu regarded as a probable choice to succeed Premier Refik Saydam.

The Turkish ambassador to London, Tevfik Rustu, according to sources close to the all-powerful National People's party, would become the next foreign minister if Saracoglu becomes premier.

Rumors, persisting without official confirmation, were that independent elements in the party demanded "new blood" at key posts, asserting that the European crisis required that Turkey have a dynamic leadership.

NAVY OUT OF TOUCH WITH ROOSEVELT SHIP FOR 2D STRAIGHT DAY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11 (AP).—For the second consecutive day the navy failed to receive a report from the Presidential yacht Potomac, which was last reported cruising off the New England shore.

Daily dispatches, made public by the navy department here, were received from the Potomac last week thru Saturday. Officials said, however, that there was no hard and fast rule that such reports would be sent here. None was received yesterday.

Mr. Roosevelt left on his vacation cruise on Aug. 3 and planned to be away a week or 10 days, but the time was not definite and was subject to extension.

RUSSIA APPEALS FOR AID OF SLAVS IN OTHER LANDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Aug. 11.—Appeals for a united Slavic front to aid Russia were broadcast from Moscow today as a world Slav conference got under way.

The addresses, which were made in the languages of all Slav nations, warned against a Nordic conquest of Europe, which, some of the speakers said, threatens to extinguish Slavic influence. Other speakers hailed Russia as the fountainhead of Slav culture and stressed the cultural achievements of Ukrainians, White Russians, Poles, and Moldavians. No mention was made of bolshevism, the communist party, or the third international.

It was announced that Slavic groups in the United States would be asked to urge further assistance to Russia and to demonstrate publicly against Germany as an enemy of the Slav races.

SOVIET CAVALRY DASHES AGAINST FOE IN UKRAINE

'Flying Infantry' Seeks to Block Germans.

MOSCOW, Aug. 12 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Soviet cavalrymen were reported today to be racing en masse to block the Nazi drive on the Ukraine front, where the Russian communique said fighting continued unchecked.

The cavalry formations, described as "flying infantry," dash to the hottest sectors, dismount, and counter-attack with rifles, bayonets, grenades, machine guns, and mine throwers.

The communique mentioned as centers of fighting the same areas the Red army had named in previous announcements: Soltsi, on the Leningrad front; Smolensk, on the central front, and Bel Tserkov and Uman in the Ukraine.

A town of 44,000, more than half of them Jews, Uman is situated on the eastern slope of the Avratin hills between Kiev and Odessa. It is known in Russian history as the scene of the "Uman slaughter" of 1768, in which the town was razed and 18,000 inhabitants were slain to put down an uprising.

Moscow Bombed Again.

German planes attacked Moscow for the 17th time early today but the Russians said only a few succeeded in penetrating the city's defenses. Some dwellings were reported demolished and casualties resulted.

Intense Russian-German aerial activity was indicated in the soviet communique. The Red air force blasted Berlin Sunday night in the heaviest raid on the German capital so far, it was said, and has kept up harassing raids on German land forces and communications. The thrust at Berlin, which was the third by soviet planes, was reported to have caused huge fires and explosions within the capital.

Hitting at German communications, the Russians said their planes wrecked the railway bridge at the Rumanian town of Cernavoda, the largest rail span over the Danube river on the line running west from the oil port of Constanta toward Germany. Shipping at Constanta also was reported bombed. In fierce fighting Sunday, 39 German planes and 25 Russian aircraft were reported destroyed.

Foes Raid Murmansk.

A German-Finnish mass air raid on the arctic port of Murmansk was disclosed by the communique, which said Russian fighters drove off the attackers. Sixteen German-Finnish and one Russian plane were reported shot down.

In the southwestern area it was admitted the Germans had slowly carved deep into the Ukraine, but the Red army was reported still putting up an ironclad defense west of Moscow. To the north, too, Red soldiers were reported fighting on new ground after a dearly purchased advance by the Nazis.

First Australian-Built Bomber to Get Test Soon

MELBORNE, Australia, Aug. 11.—The first Australian designed and built bomber will be ready for tests early in September and will be produced on a quantity basis if approved. It was designed to be both a dive bomber and a high level attack plane of exceptional speed.

RED WAR MAKES OTHERS 'CHILD'S PLAY,' SAYS NAZI

Iron Cross Hero Tells of Smolensk Capture.

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER.

BERLIN, Aug. 11 (AP).—Fresh from Smolensk, First Lieutenant George Boness described the Russians today as "exceedingly tough fighters excellently equipped militarily, but poorly so far as personal outfitting, such as field flasks, bread bags, and gas masks are concerned."

"France, Holland, Belgium, and even Jugo-Slavia and Greece were child's play compared with the Russian campaign," he declared.

Encounter "Hellish" Heat.

"On our march eastward the heat was hellish, the dust so thick we couldn't see the next car ahead," he recounted. "At first the Russians, to our surprise, did not blast bridges on their retreat. The reason was that they expected to make a counteroffensive, hence had orders to let the bridges stand.

"But after reaching the Dnieper they systematically dynamited all bridges. Our engineers, however, were on the job, much to the surprise of the Russians."

Tells of Nazi Hardships.

Elaborating on the hardships of German soldiers during the blitz advance, Boness said he did not drink Russian water for seven weeks because it was too bad.

The soldiers, he said, hadn't had an opportunity for three weeks to get off their boots but slept, marched, and fought in them without change.

[Another dispatch quoted Lieut. Boness as saying the Germans entered Smolensk the evening of July 16, but the city had been fired by the Russians and the heat was so tense they had to leave. Returning the next morning, he said, they have held Smolensk ever since.]

CONGRESS GROUP IN CUBA ON TOUR OF LATIN AMERICA

HAVANA, Aug. 11 (AP).—A committee of five United States congressmen began a 58 day tour here today to get a first hand view of the work of the state and commerce departments in Latin-America.

Representative Louis Rabaut [D., Mich.], head of the group, is chairman of the house subcommittee in charge of appropriations for state, commerce, justice, and judiciary departments of the United States. He said he had "already sensed a feeling of warm friendship for the United States among the people of Cuba."

The congressmen spent much of their time, since arrival here today from Miami by plane, with United States Ambassador George Messersmith. They will leave Havana Thursday for Miami to take a plane for Haiti, and from there continue on to South America.

NAZIS ABANDON 150 MILLION PLAN FOR TURK TRADE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ANKARA, Turkey, Aug. 11.—German commercial experts who arrived in Istanbul recently to negotiate trade pacts with Turkey have been ordered by Berlin to abandon the project and return home, according to reports in Ankara business circles.

Berlin is said to have decided that the present moment is not propitious to push trade talks, which, it is understood, will be postponed until the Russian campaign ends.

The Nazis planned and proposed a new trade clearing agreement involving 100 million Turkish liras by each party, or a total of about $150,000,000.

TOMMIES HOLD UP FIRE, THEN KILL ATTACKERS OF TOBRUK AT 300 YDS.

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 11 (AP). — The defenders of besieged Tobruk resisted an Italian attack on Saturday night by waiting until the attackers were within 300 yards and then killing them "almost to a man" with a blast of artillery and machine gun fire, the British middle east general headquarters reported today.

Axis armored forces also were compelled to withdraw from the no man's land between the Libyan and Egyptian borders yesterday, the communique said, by accurate artillery fire from British patrols.

The RAF middle east headquarters said today that fleet air arm planes "made a torpedo attack on a large merchant vessel at Syracuse Saturday." It gave no further details. Syracuse is on the east coast of the Island of Sicily.

[A Rome communique reported that the vessel attacked at Syracuse was the 13,060 ton Italian hospital ship, California. It was reported hit by a torpedo but not sunk.]

Floods Sweep Central and Southern Chile; 28 Dead

POLISH WELFARE MISSION BEING SENT TO RUSSIA

LONDON, Aug. 11.—A Polish welfare mission soon will join the military mission in Moscow to coöperate in the enormous task of organizing relief for the hundreds of thousands of war and civilian prisoners and deportees, it was announced today.

Speaking to Polish soldiers in Scotland, Premier General Wladislaw Sikorski revealed that the Polish military mission in Moscow is negotiating a detailed convention, that large sums of money have been sent to effect relief, and that the soviet authorities have offered to rush medical supplies to various deportee camps.

The military mission is investigating the number of Polish soldiers absorbed by Russian industry, he said. It was estimated that about 50,000 men will be available for active service in the Polish army in Russia.

FINLAND FIGHTS A CANNY WAR TO SAVE MANPOWER

Puts Faith in Army That Knows Its Arms.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE FINNISH ARMIES ON THE SOUTHERN FRONT, Aug. 11.—The Finns are fighting an exceedingly canny war—they must get the most out of their man power and at the same time exercise an economy of lives.

The population of Finland is barely 4,000,000. The commanders refuse to tell how many men—and women—are mobilized, but I was informed the number may run up to 15 per cent of the total population.

But, as every one knows, that is far from meaning that Finland has 600,000 men to put in the line, even making allowance for the Lotta Svard girls and other women's auxiliaries that take over some of the tasks performed in other armies by men.

It is apparent the Finns have comparatively few men to cover a front about 375 miles long and fight a stubborn foe, even making allowance for part of the line being covered by German soldiers.

Loss of Each Life Felt.

The Finns feel the loss of every life. They are still dismayed at the loss of the 25,000 who were killed in their winter war against Russia. Their extreme care for life arises partly from the evenness of their social structure. All men are so nearly alike in wealth and position that the nation has acquired the feeling of a vast family.

Finland has no large reserves and its commanders intend to have no mass attacks and no gigantic blood lettings. The high command, nevertheless, is confident of success.

The Finnish leaders are sure their higher strategy is superior to that of the Russians. The Russians, they say, have only two ideas: To attack in masses with a tremendous weight of material, or, if on the defensive, to cling stubbornly to the ground and contest every step.

Much of the Finns' confidence is based on the qualities of their common soldier. He is exactly the type needed, they say, for the kind of war being fought on this front.

He Knows Machines.

He is a woodsman used to hunting and fishing in these woods and forests. He stalks Russians as he often stalked bears. Even the urban Finn is close to the simple life of his ancestors. The Finn is a man of physical fitness who has won startling victories in world athletic competition, and in education and intelligence he attains the high standards familiar to Americans.

Further, he can adapt himself. Few countries in Europe possess such an abundance of up to date appliances as Finland. The average Finn can be trusted almost as much as the average American to have mechanical knowledge. He knows how to handle automatic pistols, machine guns, and trucks, airplanes, and tanks are no mysteries to many. This mechanical competence, the Finns say, is almost wholly lacking among the Russians.

The Finns had these advantages in their winter war, yet they were compelled to sue for peace. Why should they be so confident now? A man in high command told me their answer.

Most important is that Finland now is not alone and cannot again be overwhelmed by sheer weight. Beyond that, Finland in the last war had a tremendous inferiority in equipment. That defect has since been limited. "It was the airplane more than anything that beat us," this general said.

Air Force Built Up.

Now, he indicated, Finland has enough airplanes to meet any strength the Russians can advance. Some of these machines came from Germany, but in the 16 months of provisional peace the Finns built up a small but good air force of their own. The planes are British, American, Dutch, and French, as well as German.

The Russians smashed the Finns in the winter war with tanks, too. The Finns now say they have an adequate defense against these machines and have enough of their own to serve this front. In the sector I have been seeing, practically no tanks are being used by either side.

In the other war the Finns had little artillery in comparison with the Russians. Today they have at least enough. They are using heavy American guns at Hango and I was informed they got much artillery from Holland.

EVALYN McLEAN.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11 (AP).—Senator Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.], ex-officio chairman of the senate military affairs committee, late today confirmed reports he would be married in the near future to Evalyn W. McLean, 20 year old daughter of socially prominent Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean of Washington.

Senator Reynolds.

Reynolds, who is 57 years old, said any additional information would have to come from Mrs. McLean, widow of Edward B. McLean, former Washington newspaper publisher who died recently. Mrs. McLean was reported to be in Stockbridge, Mass.

It will be the North Carolina senator's fifth marriage. Two of his marriages were ended by divorce while two of his wives died.

"I hope the marriage will take place as early as possible," Reynolds said.

O'BRIEN AND NYE WILL SPEAK AT ANTI-WAR RALLY

The Rev. John A. O'Brien, associate professor of the graduate school at Notre Dame university, will share the platform with Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], at the anti-war massmeeting tomorrow night in the Chicago arena, 400 East Erie street. This was announced last night by officials of the America First committee, sponsors of the rally. The Rev. Dr. O'Brien shares with Senator Nye the distinction of being a leading anti-war speaker in the middle west.

America's destiny away from European battlefields was stressed last night by speakers at meetings of suburban America First committees. In Glen Ellyn Miss Gertrude Coogan, a Chicago investment counselor, declared that this country will be kept out of war if the American people continue to oppose the present armament program, which she said was designed not for defense but to drag us into the war.

The Rev. William H. Medler, pastor of the Hyde Park Lutheran church, told the Evanston group that if the United States entered the war, for which it is unprepared, the country would be ruined financially and democracy would be lost. In Oak Park the Rev. C. W. Tedrahn, pastor of the Markham Evangelical Lutheran church of Markham, declared that this country should be able to imitate the Swiss and remain neutral, particularly with the advantage of the Atlantic ocean.

TWO AXIS SHIPS SLIP AWAY FROM REFUGE IN SIAM

BANGKOK, Thailand, Aug. 11 (AP).—Two axis ships, one German and the other Italian, which had taken refuge in Thai [Siamese] territorial waters off Bangkok bar since the outbreak of the European war, were reliably reported today to have slipped away Saturday night, presumably headed for Saigon, French Indo-China.

[This might indicate a desire of the ship's captains not to remain where they would be liable to seizure in event of a Japanese attack on Thailand.]

Two Italian vessels were reported still lying near the Island of Puket, off the west coast of Thailand.

FINNS PROMISE KARELIANS WILL HAVE OWN FARMS

Lived on Collectives Under Russian Rule.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE FINNISH ARMY IN EASTERN KARELIA, Aug. 11.—In this portion of former soviet territory now being occupied by advancing Finnish forces, the questions which the Eastern Karelians put to the soldiers are chiefly concerned with Finland's economic system.

The peasants, under soviet rule for 20 years, seem unable to understand that hereafter they are expected to work on farms as individuals and sell the products of their labor and that they will be able to buy goods in private stores.

Soviet Officials Flee.

Their former soviet officials fled with the Red army which was driven back on this front a fortnight ago. Since then none of the villagers had done any work. Only when the soldiers ordered them to work did they perform any tasks. The Finns said they were amazed at the lack of initiative among the people who were left in the villages.

Under soviet rule the villagers were kept busy on the collectivized farms. Men and women were employed in cutting and hauling timber in the forests. They had always been told what to do. For this work they had been paid in grain.

For the time being the collectivized farms will have to remain collectivized but now they are being run by young Finnish farm experts.

Soon Coöperative Stores.

Until the Finnish conquest, the products of eastern Karelia were consumed by local Red army garrisons and the remainder was sent to Petrozavodsk or the great industrial districts surrounding Leningrad. Today these occupied districts are being linked with Finland by roads. The great Finnish coöperatives are preparing to establish stores immediately and then grant the peasants credits to buy needed supplies to give them fresh incentive to work.

But the process of introducing a new culture and spiritual values of a free capitalistic society in eastern Karelia will take a long time.

JAPANESE QUIT SINGAPORE FOR SIAM BY TRAIN

SINGAPORE, Straits Settlements, Aug. 11 (AP).—Japanese nationals are leaving Singapore by international express to Bangkok, Thailand [Siam], and a request was reported today to have been made to the Japanese government for a ship to take about 300 others from Singapore. The exodus was ascribed to the closing of Japanese businesses and cuts in the staffs of Japanese firms as a result of British credit freezing actions.

55 Americans Reach Manila.

MANILA, P. I., Aug. 11 (AP).—Carrying 55 American evacuees from French Indo-China, scene of Japan's latest military move, the French steamship Marechal Joffre arrived in Manila today.

The group included plantation operators, merchants, missionaries and their wives and children. They plan to remain here until transportation home is available.

SEEK ENGINEERS IN CHICAGO FOR CANAL ZONE JOB

Chicago electrical and mechanical engineers and other technical experts are being recruited for work in the Panama Canal Zone, where they will be employed in the construction of a new set of canal locks now being built at a cost of approximately $300,000,000.

L. B. Moore, office engineer of the Panama canal, is in the city directing the recruiting of 85 technicians. Moore is being aided in the task, made difficult by the fact that industries affected by rearmament have thinned the ranks of available experts, by the Illinois State Employment service at 20 North Wacker drive, where candidates are interviewed.

"To qualify for a position with the canal a man must be under 50 years of age, physically sound, and willing to go to the canal without his wife or family," Moore explained. "Family quarters may not be available for new men for six months or a year."

The types of experts needed, according to Moore, are architectural, structural, electrical, and mechanical designers, student engineers, inspectors, and surveyors. All, with the exception of the inspectors and surveyors, must hold engineering degrees.

HONOR HOPKINS THO BRITISH CITY CANNOT FIND HIM

PORTSMOUTH, England, Aug. 11 (AP).—The freedom of the city was conferred on Harry Hopkins today as tribute for his work as President Roosevelt's personal representative in Britain.

The award was conferred on Hopkins in absentia. Freedom of the city likewise was awarded to Prime Minister Winston Churchill, who also was not present. Whereabouts of both men were not known.

[There have been persistent, unconfirmed rumors for almost a week that Churchill, Hopkins, and President Roosevelt were having or were about to have a conference.]

JAPAN PLACES ALL INDUSTRY ON WAR FOOTING

Warned by Envoy: U. S. Is Ready for Worst.

TOKIO, Aug. 11 (AP).—Japan put herself on a full economic war footing today under her general mobilization act, while her minister to Washington, D. C., bluntly counseled his people that "the United States is prepared and determined to meet the worst eventualities."

Kaname Wakasugi.

The diplomat, Kaname Wakasugi, at Los Angeles, Cal., on his way home to confer on the "delicate issue" of Thailand [Siam], gave a trans-Pacific telephone interview in which he pictured the United States and Japan as each unwilling to "start anything," but stressed American preparedness under a "definitely changed" attitude toward Japan.

"The Anglo-American powers actually are allied," Wakasugi said. "They are closely watching international developments."

Guide All Economic Activity.

By deciding today to invoke in full the provisions of the general mobilization act, the government of Premier Konoe took full regulatory charge of Japanese economic life. Typical of the controls to be set up were those over the stock exchange and marine transport.

The Wakasugi interview, published by the newspaper Nichi Nichi, coincided with an editorial in the big business newspaper Chugai, saying Japanese-American relations were deteriorating and only two steps remained before a possible break: A complete embargo and severance of consular relations, the last "a likely prelude" to a diplomatic break.

War Closer, Australia Told.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Aug. 12 [Tuesday] (AP).—John Curtin, Australian labor leader, declared today that war was moving closer to Australia and that "the time has come when Australia asks loyal and devoted service from her sons."

This statement followed an emergency session of the cabinet yesterday, when Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies said "great decisions will have to be taken." The cabinet will meet again today.

Menzies declared the impending decisions had to do with "the security of the empire and the things it stands for," and specifically mentioned Singapore.

'MARCH OF TIME' BLAST AT HITLER CALLED 'BRUTAL'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—A letter written by its producer admitting that the new issue of the March of Time is war propaganda of a "brutal" character was read to the senate today by Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.].

Senator Gerald P. Nye.

Senator Nye and Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] are co-authors of a resolution calling for a senate Interstate Commerce committee investigation of war propaganda in motion pictures and radio. Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], chairman of the Interstate Commerce committee headed by Senator D. Worth Clark [D., Idaho], which will begin hearings on the Clark-Nye resolution on Sept. 3.

Communication to Nye.

The letter read in the senate by Senator Nye, dated July 28, 1941, was written by Louis de Rochemont, producer of the March of Time, to an unidentified person in New York. It follows:

"The Hitler peace offensive is on and lots of good, well meaning people will be taken in by it. We at the March of Time are not. We know the record of Nazi Germany and know that Hitler means war, not peace, and war against America at the end of it all. I have had our staff put the whole thing down in film and called it 'Peace: By Adolf Hitler.' It will be the next issue of the March of Time.

It's "Vital" and "Brutal."

"It isn't pretty and it's no fun to see, but in it is the essence of what we've been saying for years and must say again now—stop Hitler.

"This film is so vital and brutal it will need friends who will talk about it to put it across to the American people. May I count on you?"

Nye said he had received a dozen letters from persons who had seen it and they all spoke of it in the same language used by its producer. "It is brutal to American thinking," he said.

BRITAIN'S BABIES TO FARE ALIKE IN CLOTHES RATION

Coupons to Be Required of Rich and Poor.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 11.—Babies of the rich and poor will be placed on the same footing under a scheme announced today for extending clothes rationing to all baby garments.

Hitherto ready-made garments for children under 4 years of age could be purchased without presenting clothing coupons, thus giving mothers who could afford to buy such garments an advantage over mothers who had to surrender clothes ration coupons in purchasing materials with which to make garments for their children.

Clothes for Prisoners.

Relatives soon will be able to buy clothes for prisoners of war, if plans under consideration by the board of trade, Red Cross, and other war organizations materialize. The arrangement will provide for an initial advance of 40 special coupons to be used solely for this purpose. The war department will keep check on all parcels forwarded to prisoners.

The Evening News said British housewives will get a valuable share of the "flood of goods" coming here from America under the lend-lease program. The consignments in which they will share reportedly include cheese, dried and condensed milk, brown bacon, dried fruits, canned meat, and canned salmon.

Concession to Firemen.

London's auxiliary firemen today won a meat ration concession. The ration each man can obtain in a canteen will be increased from 2 to 4 cents' worth every 24 hours.

Despite the big "coal offensive" by the ministry of mines, domestic supplies of coal in London are still inadequate to cover current requirements. Coal dumps have shrunk, according to the Evening News, which said: "There is less coal in store for emergency in London than at this time last year."

WILEY CALLS ON LEADERS TO KEEP U. S. OUT OF WAR

Urges Sane Thinking in Defense Program.

BY THORNTON SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 11.—Eighty-five per cent of the American people not only do not want war, but they have shown clearly that they will oppose any act by the managers of this government that would draw this country into the war, Senator Alexander Wiley [R., Wis.] said in a radio address here today.

The American people, he said, can not be labeled loosely either interventionists or noninterventionists, the Senator said, but they are aware of the tragedies and costs of war, aware that there is no need to enter war and they want to keep the United States safe, free, and at peace, he declared.

There is a need for the defense program, growing out of war madness abroad, Senator Wiley asserted. "This defense program calls for the sanest kind of thinking and planning so we do not wreck our American economy and do not, contrary to the wishes of the great majority of the people, precipitate this nation into war by the acts of our leaders," he said.

Hopes Leaders Keep Their Heads.

"It would be a serious tragedy at this time for either the executive or any of his officers or the congress to disregard the wishes of the people."

Senator Wiley said in his opinion the United States was further from being involved in the war than it was six months ago. "It is my fervent conviction," he declared, "that if our leaders keep their heads, American involvement is not necessary.

"We have heard a great deal said about unity. America is unified for defense, unified on keeping out of the war, and unified against involvement. If any nation should strike at the western hemisphere there will be 131 million persons back of the commander in chief.

Not Prepared for War Abroad.

"In the bewildered thinking and loose statements that characterize our foreign affairs, one thing is certain—we are not prepared for a European war. We do not have 50,000 mechanized troops. We do not have a two ocean navy. We can fight a defensive war on our side of the Atlantic, but we are not prepared to send an expeditionary force abroad.

"I am for every measure that will bulwark America's defenses. I believe we should arm to the teeth. I believe in an independent air arm, a great fleet and mobile, fast moving, synchronized mechanized units.

"In these days which try men's souls I believe in sacrifice to build our defenses strong. I believe in sacrifices for labor, for management, for the consumer, for the taxpayer, and also for a government which must cut out its expensive nondefense frills."

Great Waves of Propaganda.

Wiley said that in a time when great waves of propaganda were being poured over the land, the American people were becoming more and more discriminating in their thinking.

The great group of Americans, he said, who are between the 1 per cent who are interventionists and the 5 per cent, who, he said, could be labeled noninterventionists, the people are weighing the facts and casting out the false.

"They are not lulled into false security," he declared, "and they are in favor of adequate defense. They are not downhearted or defeatists and they are conscious of the obligations they owe to the present and future generations of Americans."

330 OF 1,284 MEN IN 43 YEAR OLD REGIMENT MEET

Three hundred thirty of the 1,284 men who 43 years ago made up the old 3d Illinois volunteer infantry regiment swapped stories of Spanish-American war service in Puerto Rico at their annual reunion in Elgin yesterday. Phil Hoyt of South Bend, Ind., regimental historian, said 576 members of the regiment survive, and their average age is 66. John Sutherland of Pontiac was elected president, and next year's reunion was awarded to Pontiac. Frank B. Smith of Rockford was named vice president, and George Robson Jr. of Centralia was elected secretary-treasurer for life.

Sues for $110,000

[TRIBUNE Photo.]
Mrs. Katherine G. Buchanan.

Mrs. Katherine Gertrude Buchanan of San Antonio, Tex., filed a suit in federal District court yesterday demanding $110,000 damages from Louis F. Swift Jr., son of the late meat packer. The suit charged that Swift broke a contract with Mrs. Buchanan in which he promised to support her and her two children.

The contract, which the suit charges was drawn up by Swift and his personal adviser, Carl H. Gutmacher, in 1935 shortly after the elder Swift died, provided that Mrs. Buchanan receive $65 a week from Swift. It also provided an additional $1,200 a year for the education of Mrs. Buchanan's daughter.

The suit, filed by Attorney Charles R. Aiken, alleges that Swift refused to make further payments after Oct. 15, 1940, five years after the date of signing. Mrs. Buchanan, a widow, is 48 years old. Swift is 46.

MEXICO TO CURB SEMI-MILITARY GROUPS; 8 SLAIN

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 11 (AP).—Reports of the slaying of eight municipal officials in two towns in the state of Vera Cruz reached the capital today. Orders were issued for federal troop commanders in all parts of the country to put down unauthorized demonstrations of semi-military groups "at all costs."

Map Locates Scene of Slayings.

Mayor Donato Casas and three other officials of the town of Villa Hose Cardel, midway between Vera Cruz city and Jalapa, were found slain after a week-end raid. Four officials of Ixhuacan suffered a similar fate.

HALF OF DRAFTEE LIST REVEALED UNFIT TO SERVE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—Almost one-half of all draftees called up for service are being rejected for physical and mental defects.

This percentage is called by military medical men "a shame and a disgrace" to a country which claims the highest standards of living, the greatest educational system, and the best medical care in the world.

During the world war it is estimated that about one-third of the men inducted were turned down because of physical and mental defects, but army physicians point out that the improvements in diagnosis and examination during the last decade enable present examiners to weed out men missed in the previous draft who later became charges of the government.

ART OF LIVING BECOMES A FEAT IN WASHINGTON

Pandemonium and Peril Replace Tranquility.

other reason than that of rampant crime.

"These thugs keep a record of government pay days," she said. "Any woman they see walking around after dark with a purse under her arm they follow. Then they snatch. You haven't a chance in the world. Yell your head off, and nobody comes to help.

"Since March there have been two sex murders within a radius of two blocks of where I live. It's a neighborhood of old homes, most of them filled with government clerks. It's just as dangerous as can be.

Stand-As-You-Chew.

"You lose respect for just about everything and every one, but I'll tell you one thing Washington cures you of——the respect you had back home for congressmen. If you went to the dime store to buy buttons by the dozen it would mean about as much."

More than 100 new restaurants and stand-as-you-chew places have been opened in the last six months. Yet, from 11:45 a. m. to 2 p. m., he who would eat still must stand in line, or else snatch an oil paper sandwich from the curbing lunch stands that pop out of basements at noon.

Department stores, which ordinarily are afflicted with summer doldrums here, say, "Business is terrific." The draft and government jobs are taking half their clerks, but only the customers mind it. Many stores are building additions or establishing new branches. Clothing prices are high.

Pay Days Now Staggered.

Every one protests. The banks, faced with a monthly government pay roll of $31,716,880 in May [again excluding military], were inundated by strictly cash customers on the government's bimonthly pay days.

At first they lengthened pay day banking hours to 5:30 p. m. This merely caused every one to try to get to the bank on pay day, whereas formerly a few had waited until the next day. Finally the government staggered its pay days; it now issues its pay on the 8th, 15th, 23d, and 31st of the month, but the relief this affords is microscopic.

Pay day noon here is an awesome sight; out of the mighty marble buildings the hordes pour like freed prisoners. They run for the banks. For two hours the lines are interminable; the pickpockets and purse snatchers then begin their stalking.

Government pay day is a field day for every one. The army of government employés storms the stores, the restaurants, the beauty parlors and especially the bars. From 4:30 on, every bar is packed [and new ones have sprung up in every nook and sub-basement], usually with hatless girls.

Girls Rush in Groups.

"Most of the new clerks are young girls," a government employé said, "and they go goofy over bars and mixed drinks. They'll drink out of a mason fruit jar, and will save all month from their $120 salary so they can have $3 or $4 to go on a bar binge."

A visit to any downtown bar on pay day will confirm this seemingly rash statement. Such ones as the Neptune room, a basement establishment gaudy with silver and blue, stuffed fish and gay fishing nets, is one of the favored spots. It has a small orchestra, but no dance floor, and rows of tables jammed together.

The onslaught begins as early as 4:30 p. m. on pay days. A few girls come with escorts, but they seem to be the exception. Others come by twos, by fours, by sixes, hurrying down the stairs to get a table. By 5 p. m. they are standing in line, hatless and determined. They order drinks full of cherries, strange colors and pineapple, topped by a little Japanese paper parasol.

"Can I give you a one sentence picture of Washington?" one clerk suggested. "It is this: a room full of frustrated females clawing each other to get at one man. You know, we're 10 to 1 here."

Everybody Borrowing from U. S.

The vagaries of a defense worker's life were given graphically by an RFC clerk who pronounced herself "physically exhausted from signing out so many millions of dollars today."

"It seems like everybody in America except the duPonts have been borrowing money from us this year," she said, "and I guess they just hate Roosevelt too much. Why, we have 18,000 telephone calls a day! I tell you, after a day of this, it just seems silly to go home and try to budget my salary.

"No matter what salary you make in Washington, it takes half of it to sleep and eat. Just for creature comforts alone. The cost of living has gone sky-high, and no one really makes a lot, you know, even tho it sounds like it when you first get it. The average girl makes $1,560 a year [$130 a month], and it doesn't go far here.

No Vacancies—in 1940.

"I came up in 1940, and there were no vacancies. When I went around, they'd say, 'Vacancies are made, you know.' It depends on whom you knew and how prominent New Dealers they were.

"Well, it was wonderful. You could find a job, and have the most powerful politics in the world behind it, and they still wouldn't want you. Then they'd give you an examination that no one could pass, so they could kick you out again. It was a racket pure and simple. Now any one can get one.

"Many girls who come to this place on a salary of $1,440—that's $120 a month—think they are in good shape. It isn't anything."

For a while the new army of workers had a fine time shifting jobs. A girl would have one job and be offered a better one. Overnight she would change. The consequent pandemonium was pretty bad.

To end this, a general order decreed that government workers cannot quit. If so, they cannot get another federal job for 90 days. So now every one keeps the job he has, but if the thermometer rises above 93 and he is not in an air conditioned building, he quits for the day.

AMERICANS FEED MILLION IN SPAIN THRU RED CROSS

4 Million Dollar Program Is Nearing Completion.

MADRID, Aug. 11 (AP).—An American Red Cross mission has completed the job of distributing nearly 20,000 tons of food, valued at $4,000,000, in six months of activity in Spain.

Col. Cary Crockett, U. S. A., retired, the energetic chief of the mission, superintended today the distribution of the last shipment of food to the Madrid area.

Another American Red Cross man now is leading a caravan of American trucks thru eight southern provinces, delivering tons of quinine and other medicines to the hospitals and clinics.

Cruises the "Hunger Belt."

Col. Crockett, who is 63, a retired infantryman who was campaigner or observer in almost all the world's wars since 1898, commands six American assistants and a fleet of 23 American trucks. Since March he has been cruising Spain's hunger belt with the coöperation of the Spanish government and its relief agencies.

A map at Madrid headquarters of the American Red Cross shows that 23 provinces received more than 100 tons of food each. It is south of the Salamanca-Madrid-Barcelona line, Crockett said, that Spain's greatest hunger is concentrated.

Crockett himself, bouncing thru the tropical heat in an American station wagon and sleeping in a roadside blanket roll when necessary, has covered 33,000 kilometers and has personally visited provincial governors, relief stations, and plain hungry families in every part of Spain. Some of his men, aboard the big food trucks, have covered even more territory.

Ban Exports of Food.

The Red Cross agreement with Spain carries the provision that Spain will export no wheat or wheat flour while the Red Cross is distributing those commodities. The distributors hold the receipts of branches of the Auxilio Social and nearly a hundred other charitable organizations and hospitals to which food has been given.

Crockett estimated, in fact, that American Red Cross food had fed at least 1,000,000 Spaniards—some one meal and others many. He reported that Auxilio Social—the Falange state party's official relief organization—"is doing a job never before tackled in Spain and showing admirable efficiency in many instances."

Unemployed in Britain Total 277,280 for July

LONDON, Aug. 11.—Labor Minister Ernest Bevin announced today that persons registered in Britain as wholly unemployed totaled 277,280 on July 14, a decrease of 24,659 from the previous month. Men and boys comprised 113,662 of the total figure. A cross section of the unemployed in one district showed that of 111 unemployed, 70 were more than 55 years old. Most of those unemployed are unemployable.

CHARGES AGAINST ABANDONED BOY'S PARENTS STUDIED

Judge Frank Bicek of the Juvenile court returned yesterday from his vacation to review the case of Tommy Argo, 3 years old, who was abandoned a month ago in Brookfield zoo.

He was told how the mother, Lillian, 22 years old, a café entertainer, was located and met the child in Jackson, Mich. Judge Bicek asked Assistant State's Attorney Irving Lang to determine whether child abandonment charges against the mother and father, Walter, 28 years old, a Detroit, Mich., truck driver, are warranted.

Miss Minnie Jones, an officer of the court with jurisdiction in Cook county, told how she took the boy and traveled in Illinois, Indiana, and Michigan to find the mother.

It also was reported that Detroit authorities are investigating the case. The matter was continued by Judge Bicek until Sept. 10.

U. S. BUYING TAX OF 5% URGED ON NON-ESSENTIALS

Revenue Proposal Would Exempt Necessities.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11 (AP).—A purchase tax on non-essential articles was suggested by the Investment Bankers association today as an alternative to stiff increases in income taxes.

In a statement presented to the senate finance committee by Harcourt Amory of Boston, chairman of its federal taxation committee, the association said that the tax should exempt such purchases as food, rent, gas, electricity, and children's clothing. The association suggested that a 5 per cent tax be imposed on purchases of a second category of articles—those falling between the classification of necessities and luxuries. A 10 per cent tax would be paid on purchases of luxury items.

Puts Yield at 602 Millions.

Amory estimated such a tax, similar to one now in operation in Great Britain, would yield $602,200,000 in additional revenue.

The witness said that house approved increases in income taxes were "too sudden" and suggested that the total increase be limited to 40 per cent, instead of the projected 48 per cent. This would cut the yield from the house approved income levies from $2,151,900,000 to $1,803,000,000, Amory estimated.

Amory also suggested the income tax base be broadened, that rates be increased somewhat on incomes between $2,000 and $10,000, that liquor and tobacco taxes be further increased, and that estate and gift taxes be retained at their present levels.

"It is difficult to see why a man should be penalized for dying in a depression or in a national emergency," Amory said.

Would Tax Wage Boosts.

In addition, Amory proposed an "excessive profits" tax on salaries and wages of individuals similar to that now imposed on corporate earnings. He suggested a tax of 10 per cent might be levied on wage and salary increases made after the enactment of the legislation.

"Such a tax," he said, "would be a substantial revenue producer and would make those individuals fortunate enough to benefit directly or indirectly from the defense program contribute a small share of the benefits received to the government.

"The unusual profits of corporations due directly or indirectly to the defense program are taken care of by an excess profits tax. Profits of individuals and partnerships of any substantial size are taken care of by heavy surtaxes, but the average wage earner contributes under the proposed bill little, if anything, toward the defense program from which he benefits."

Asks Telegram Tax Revision.

J. C. Willever, first vice president of the Western Union Telegraph company, appeared as a spokesman for domestic telegraph and cable companies in urging modification of proposed increases in telegraph and cable taxes.

The present tax on telegrams is 5 per cent and on cablegrams 10 cents each. The house approved bill would impose graduated taxes beginning at 5 cents for messages which cost between 25 and 50 cents, increasing to 25 cents for messages costing between $2.01 and $2.50, plus 5 cents for each additional 50 cents or fraction thereof.

Willever asked that the tax on telegrams be fixed at not more than 10 per cent and that on cablegrams at 5 per cent.

4,000 Million Limit Set.

An outside limit of 4,000 million dollars was fixed for the new tax bill by influential members of the senate finance committee.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau advised the committee last week that a 5,400 million dollar measure would be necessary if the treasury was to attain its financing goal of two-thirds revenue and one-third borrowing. Accordingly treasury experts now are working on plans to raise the $3,236,700,000 house approved bill by $2,163,300,000.

Chairman Walter F. George [D., Ga.] predicted, however, that the senate finance committee would not add more than 500 million dollars to the house bill.

Leaves Prison

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Richard Whitney, former president of New York Stock exchange, leaving Sing Sing prison yesterday.

Barnstable, Mass., Aug. 11 (AP).—Free after three years and four months as a Sing Sing prisoner, Richard Whitney, former president of the New York Stock exchange, arrived today at the Cape Cod dairy farm where he will begin life anew as superintendent.

Whitney, former Wall street broker whose firm collapsed with an 11 million dollar bank in 1938, reached here in a chauffeur driven automobile accompanied by his brother, George. Whitney was released from Sing Sing prison at Ossining, N. Y., earlier in the day.

He will live on the dairy farm here, owned by relatives, with his wife, Gertrude, and their daughter, Alice, 22. Until April 12, 1948, he must report on his conduct once a month to the Massachusetts board of corrections, which will relay the information to New York parole authorities.

DEMAND 8 CENT FARES AT ONCE ON STREET CARS

Lines Make 'Emergency' Plea to Commission.

BY LAWRENCE BURD.

An immediate one cent increase in street car fares to 8 cents was asked by the Chicago Surface lines in a petition mailed late yesterday to the Illinois Commerce commission in Springfield. The petition argued that recent increases in wages and material costs require an "emergency" fare boost, pending full hearings by the commission on a permanent increase.

At the same time, the Chicago Motor Coach company filed an answer with the commerce commission to charges that its 10 cent bus fare is excessive. The coach company also cited rising labor and material costs, which, it contended, have reduced its present income to an "unreasonably low" rate of return.

Reply to Petitions.

The company's answer was in reply to the city's 7 year old petition for a cut in motor coach fares. Attorney General George F. Barrett and Ald. Paul H. Douglas [5th] also have petitions on file with the commission urging a reduction in the fare. These petitions seek immediate action.

Both the surface lines' request and the arguments in the bus fare dispute will be in the hands of the five commerce commissioners when they convene tomorrow in Springfield for their only scheduled meeting in August. The commission already has scheduled hearings to start Sept. 9 on the Chicago Rapid Transit company's request for an increase from 10 to 12 cents in the "L" fare.

The surface lines' petition, signed by Charles W. Chase, president, and the lines' four receivers, estimated a 1 cent fare increase, which would also apply to the present 3 cent fare for children 7 to 12 years old, would amount to 5 million dollars a year.

Increase in Wages.

Wage increases effective June 1 have added $2,500,000 a year to operating costs and rising material costs have added another $400,000, the petition said. As a result, the company, operating on a 7 cent fare, in July had a net loss of $25,600 after providing for operating expenses and taxes, but before allowing any return to investors, according to the brief.

The company declared that even an 8 cent fare will "yield an entirely inadequate return" but argued the 1 cent increase is needed simply to maintain adequate service, pending a permanent decision in the case.

The petition estimated the 8 cent fare would produce a net return, after operating expenses, of $5,612,000 a year. It set forth no specific valuation of the properties, but recalled that the commerce commission in 1920 valued them at $159,113,000 and held the company was entitled to a return of 12 million dollars a year.

BUS COMPANY PLEA

The coach company's answer to the city's petition for a lower fare asserted the present fair value of its properties is at least 10 million dollars. It estimated the net return from the 10 cent rate, on the basis of present operations, at $523,000 a year, or 5.23 per cent. It asked that the case for a rate reduction be dismissed.

The petitions by the city, Attorney General Barrett, and Ald. Douglas had placed the bus properties' value at approximately 6 millions and its earnings in 1940 at more than $800,000, or a return of at least 12 per cent. The company argued this valuation was unfairly based on original costs, rather than present values, and said 1940 earnings figures are obsolete because of higher cost trends.

A reduction of even 1 cent in the bus fare would virtually wipe out all return to investors and thus "confiscate" the property, the company said. It estimated its present profit at 8/10 of a cent a ride.

The petition said the company in recent years has modernized its system by spending 6 million dollars for new coaches. The company this year, it added, is spending $540,000 to improve its present buses and $582,500 for 60 more buses.

STATE PAINTS ITS CARS A GLOWING ORANGE TO HELP THE TAXPAYER

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 11.—About a fourth of the 2,000 passenger automobiles in service of the state government recently flared forth in bright orange paint jobs. Director of Public Works Walter A. Rosenfield announced this afternoon that the other state cars will also receive this conspicuously distinctive color.

"It's an economy measure," said the director. "The biennium appropriation for motor transportation was $1,900,000. It's our theory that the mileage will be reduced by the orange paint."

In a modest green or black car state employés make liberal use of the auto for shopping, week-end tours, and other nonofficial business.

The bright orange color is a blatant advertisment that the taxpayers are furnishing the vehicle. With this flaming paint job, a state car can't be parked at night at a roadside beer dispensary without attracting attention.

The orange color also is expected to reduce gasoline purchases with state funds.

Workers Short for First Time Since 1930.

More than 25,000 jobs in business and industry are going begging in Chicago today—the first time since the impact of the depression in 1930 that there have been more jobs available than persons to fill them.

The opportunities were told yesterday by Frank J. Graves, state inspector of private employment agencies, and officials of several employment agencies. As examples they listed these openings:

Toolmakers—Age no consideration. Salary, $65 to $100 a week.

Apprentice machinists—Plenty of openings for boys and girls from 18 to 21 receiving 40 to 50 cents an hour learning to run machines.

Skilled workers—Almost no limit to available jobs.

White collar workers—Shortages in many classifications.

Stenographers, typists, clerks—All in demand.

Report on Unfilled Jobs.

"At the end of June Chicago agencies reported 24,672 unfilled jobs, not including domestic help," Graves said. "Since then the number has increased. Age is no handicap in skilled crafts, unless accompanied by infirmity. Some employers insist on older workers because they're steadier."

The operator of one employment agency placing applicants in business white collar jobs said that secretarial work was the only field in which there was no employment shortage. She said most employers prefer to train their own secretaries.

The state department of labor said that with the 1935-'39 employment average considered as 100, employment in Illinois manufacturing industries stood at 133.1 in June, as compared with 113.7 in 1929, while June pay rolls stood at 170.5, as compared with 134.8 in 1929. Manufacturing industries account for 25 per cent of the state's employment.

766,373 Still on Relief.

Despite labor shortages in many fields, 766,373 persons in Illinois were dependent on public assistance at the end of June. Of these, 315,096 were receiving direct relief. Relief officials said that half of these were classed as employables, altho half the number so listed weer over 45.

W. R. Blend, manager of The Tribune classified advertising, said that help wanted lineage during July ran 98 per cent ahead of July, 1940, and that other monthly gains over a year ago were June, 93 per cent; May, 95 per cent; April, 82 per cent; March, 77 per cent, and February, 59 per cent, while the full year 1940 ran 26 per cent ahead of 1939. About 20 per cent less situations wanted advertising is being carried now than a year ago, he said.

TUGWELL TO TAKE PAY OF ONE JOB, SAYS UNIVERSITY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Aug. 11.—Rexford Guy Tugwell, new chancellor of the University of Puerto Rico, has informed the university that he will not accept two salaries if he is confirmed as governor of the island.

A statement issued by the university quoted Tugwell as saying: "Under no circumstances would I take more than one salary." His salary as chancellor would be $15,000 a year; as governor $10,000. The university has voted him $2,500 for servants and $50) for entertainment.

If the senate confirms his appointment, Tugwell said, he proposes to ask a leave of absence from the university.

WATERWAYS AND THE PORK BARREL GRAB.

Col. C. Keller, United States army district engineer, has reported that the Illinois waterway handled more traffic in July of this year than in any other month of the waterway's history. He estimates that if the current trend is maintained 1941 will be a record year both for the entire so-called Illinois waterway and the Illinois river section. His estimate for the waterway is 6,300,000 tons in 1941 as against 5,729,000 tons in 1940, and for the Illinois river section 4,250,000 tons as compared with 3,750,000 tons in 1940.

Diversion of water from Lake Michigan thru the waterway has been fixed by the Supreme court at an annual average of 1,500 cubic feet a second. Altho hundreds of millions of dollars have been spent on the Chicago sewage and drainage system and treatment plants the constant increase in population in this area will make it impossible to maintain healthful conditions along the Illinois waterway and river so long as stagnant pools are maintained by the requirements of the Supreme court edict.

Before the New Deal era competent army engineers made exhaustive surveys and reported that an annual flow of 5,000 cubic feet a second is necessary for the best utilization of the waterway for navigation purposes. Neighboring lake states, thru jealousy, have prevented repeated efforts to secure a modification of the court's order—a modification urgently needed from both sanitary and navigation standpoints. Diversion of 5,000 c.f.s. would solve both problems and make the waterway the main artery for traffic.

The agreement with Canada which the President is attempting to force thru congress by an unconstitutional joint resolution contains an involved section covering the diversion from Lake Michigan. Opponents of the extravagant scheme maintain this section will forever freeze the diversion at 1,500 c.f.s. and internationalize Lake Michigan, which has always been an American lake entirely surrounded by American territory.

The President has now asked Joseph J. Mansfield, chairman of the house rivers and harbors committee, to include the St. Lawrence proposal in an omnibus pork barrel rivers and harbors bill which includes the boondoggling Florida canal proposition. This strategy is based on the theory that in order to secure an appropriation for dredging Mud creek in his own district each representative will vote for the squandering of millions and the curtailment of transportation on the inland waterways of the middle west at a time when all facilities of rail, water, and trucks should be utilized to their fullest extent. Mr. Mansfield will follow these orders in spite of the fact that on June 18, in a hearing before his committee on the St. Lawrence project, he remarked: "I hope the committee is not going to get back to the old pork barrel scheme of things."

The President calls the St. Lawrence thing a war emergency project which is "needed immediately." Estimates of the time required to complete it vary from five to seven years.

When voting on this billion dollar pork barrel monstrosity congress should have in mind not only the subterfuges which are being practiced in forcing thru proposals which have already been repeatedly rejected by the senate but should also realize that the transportation facilities of the Illinois waterway can be made useful to their fullest extent by the simple operation of opening the gates at Lockport so that sufficient water may be at hand to float heavier draft barges. No extra expense will be required, no long years of delay in construction, no waste of money, and no harm done to lake navigation.

GUILTY ON 55 COUNTS.

For a long time the men who have had to administer the federal securities laws and the men whose businesses have been regulated by the Securities and Exchange commission have recognized that the laws needed wholesale revision. They were enacted in haste and to a considerable extent in anger in the first years of the New Deal.

Negotiations have been in progress for a year between the regulators and the regulated and agreement has now been reached upon 55 amendments of the acts. Thirty-one other amendments, proposed by one side or the other, did not obtain unanimous approval. The various proposals have been embodied in bills which are shortly to receive attention in congress.

Here is unmistakable evidence that the securities legislation was badly bungled. The work was so inept that every one concerned is now agreed that no less than 55 amendments are required. The moral is an obvious one. It is that anger and a desire for revenge are most inadequate guides in the fashioning of legislation.

After the stock market crash there was general agreement that the abuses of boom days must be corrected. Manipulation of the markets by insiders was all but universally condemned. Candor in the description of new issues of stocks and bonds was all but universally demanded. If the legislation had aimed at nothing more than these two goals there could have been little complaint from the honorable majority of investment houses, brokers, and investors.

The difficulties arose largely as a result of the determination of the New Deal zealots to convert the securities acts to their larger purpose of gaining control of the nation's investment funds. The New Dealers recognized that if they could direct the flow of new funds into industry an immensely powerful weapon for the destruction of private enterprise would be placed in their hands. The securities acts were part of a larger scheme to give the politicians the use of all the nation's savings. It would be a mistake to conclude from the fact that many amendments have been agreed upon that the grand strategy has been abandoned. The burocrats still retain many controls which have little to do with preventing market manipulation and assuring honest prospectuses.

WAR WITH JAPAN.

The situation in the far east is described as more serious than ever. It is, in the language of top hat diplomacy, deteriorating rapidly. Prime Minister Menzies of Australia speaks of greater danger. Navy Minister William Hughes says: "Peace or war in the Pacific is for Japan to decide." The British, according to reports, are asking the American government to send an ultimatum. American war vessels now are in Australian waters and the Australians are told they will be seeing more of them.

By arrangement with the Vichy government, the Japanese have taken Indo-China under their protection. From Indo-China they are pressing against Thailand. It is this advance that the American ultimatum would be designed to check. Apparently, the British, the British dominions in the Pacific, and the Dutch will regard the occupation of Thailand as an open declaration against Singapore and all their possessions. The United States is urged to stop it even if it has to make war 7,000 or 8,000 miles from home. We are told that our vital interests are at stake. That needs proof.

Mr. Roosevelt explained the continued sale of oil and war supplies to the Japanese by saying that for two years the policy had confined Japan's military activities to China—a statement which the Chinese found it difficult to understand—and had been successful in preserving the peace in other parts of the southern Pacific. Mr. Roosevelt had been protecting French, British, and Dutch interests at the expense of the Chinese.

When the Japanese were able to put pressure on the Vichy government and get bases in Indo-China, Washington declared economic warfare on Japan, froze its money here, stopped its trade, closed the Panama canal to its vessels, and scared its ships out of American ports.

Japan went into Indo-China to get food and rubber as well as to improve its military position. Because of the foolish and inconclusive war in China, the Japanese people are suffering deprivations which are a trial even to that enduring race. There are food shortages of a serious nature and the economic warfare may well make the situation desperate.

We may be on the verge of going to war for the sake of other countries' interests. The war party which is contemplating this mad act refers to vital American interests. What are these interests? They are not territorial. Japan is not threatening the Philippines, which are under our guardianship for another five years. We are receding from the far east, not advancing into it. The interests involved in the conflict are French, which have been adjusted by an agreement, and British, and Dutch. It is said that we are dependent upon the British and Dutch imperial possessions for essential supplies, such as rubber. That is a commercial interest. The supplies are obtained in trade and paid for in money. The possessors are not Americans.

There is an interest in maintaining the supply. We'd prefer to deal with the British and the Dutch rather than with the Japanese. To be profitable to the possessors these products have to be marketed. Who is to market them? Is the issue worth a great war for us? Should we risk our fleet and air force in times which are described as most critical to declare that rubber shall be bought from the Dutch and not from the Japanese? Is the difference worth a war? Is the possession of these territories in the southern Pacific a matter of such vital interest to the United States that it requires the supreme sacrifice?

If Japan is moving toward these resources and these imperial possessions, it certainly is not moving toward the United States. We may think that the expansion of Japan in this direction is undesirable. We may think that it is unfortunate. We may much prefer to have the imperial status remain as it is. We'll hardly defend any imperial possession as a right in itself. But we could say we prefer things as they are. Shall we also say that we will fight a desperate war thousands of miles from our shores because Japan is threatening Singapore? How would such a war be justified to the American people when its consequences came home?

The war party talks as if we never had done business with Japan. It has been one of our best customers. We could rely upon it for silk. We had to. It is said we could not rely upon it for rubber. We had an experience with the British and the Dutch after the other war when they put an artificial price on their product. It did not work. The world's best silk buyer got the silk. The world's best rubber buyer will get the rubber.

There is this war scare as it stands naked. We are asked to take on a conflict for one or the other reason. Both imperially and economically it is insane. It hasn't the dignity of a war to rescue China, tremendous folly as that would be. It would be either a suckers' war or a traders' war, a war for the crowned heads or a war for goods.

Editorial of the Day

THE DOG FIGHT ENDS.

[Peoria Journal-Transcript.]

By casting the deciding vote when the city council was tied, Mayor Woodruff ended Peoria's "dog fight" but also fired the opening gun in a battle against the 6 year old politically independent health board, created here by a vote of the people—22,467 "for" to 11,485 "against"—and in spite of his opposition when he was mayor before.

The real issue in the "dog fight" was not the fate of the dogs. Sincere anti-vivisectionists, who led the battle on behalf of the stray canines, are to be honored for their sincerity and humanitarian impulses. But the underlying question was not the fate of a couple of hundred stray dogs, collected at the local pound each year. It was whether or not the city council and city administration have the ethical right to dominate a public health body, set up by the people, and designed to be independent of political feuds and personal hatreds. Mayor Woodruff was chief executive of Peoria when the public health work of this community was a political football. He was chief executive of the city when the method of killing stray dogs was a bloody slaughter by target practicing policemen. He did nothing then to prevent that periodic slaughter and his present concern for the stray animals can only be explained by his desire again to dictate to and spend money for the public health body.

The school board, the library board, and the public health board should be free from ward politics and petty patronage. There is no mystery why so many thinking persons are contemptuous of the aldermanic system of government when it lends itself so easily to playing politics with matters that are far from political.

PRIORITY PARAGRAPHS.

Take your vacation in June, and you will be surprised how long summer lasts. In fact, it will seem practically endless.

The news item about the army hawk that is being trained to kill enemy carrier pigeons and claw holes in parachutes was highly reassuring. When "silly season" stories turn up on schedule, there is still hope for the so-called human race.

The editor of the New Yorker groans in horror over advertising statistics which allege that each issue of his weekly contains 28.8 per cent humor, and says, "We never pretended to be more than 15 per cent funny, at the outside." This should bring loud cries of "Comrade!" from all other columnists.

If the Ashland block is doomed to become a bus terminal it is time to polish up the traditions and prepare for a memorial service under the auspices of the alumni of Smiley Corbett's café, formally called the Lambs. . . . By the way, when is an office building a "block"? Apparently the term means that it was built before 1900.

It would be comforting to most of us if the dark horse from Ottawa, Ill., who won the gladiolus championship pronounced the name of that flower in the good old folksy way, thus: Gladdyohlus.

ROOF GARDEN IN THE SLUMS.

The winds beloved of Eden pause again:
Tall marigolds are lanterns in the sky,
Ill-favored walls are cloaked in cyclamen,
A canna nods and Beauty brings a fleet
Mirage of winding streams and wooded walks;
The shade is brave from six white hollyhocks,
And columbine has cooled the sullen heat.

No dew can reach this bloom; may sun and rain
Be gentle here; each hungry little root
Is held in borrowed sod, the substitute
For gardens in a dream, a country lane
And quiet home where they have longed to dwell
Who even made an Eden by the El.

Party Girl Meets Great Outdoors.

"Look me over," she demanded. "Do I strike you as being the Big Outdoor Girl type?"

"You know, I just couldn't imagine why the Redsons asked me up to the north woods over the week-end. But I soon found out. They wanted a sop for the mosquitoes. As long as the mosquitoes had me to nibble on, they left the Redsons alone.

"I always wondered what camping would be like, but now I know: fishing, ants, sand, rain, damp sheets, flies, fishing, outdoor plumbing, cold dishwater, lumpy mattresses, and always and forever fishing. There's no doubt about it, people who are crazy about the sport really are crazy about it. They fall out of bed at the crack of dawn and rush out on the lake, and they fall into bed at twilight so that they can be up again fishing at the crack of dawn. And in between times they eat often and hearty, so as to keep up their strength to pull in the big ones. And the big ones get bigger with every telling.

"But what I really stopped in for was to ask you over tonight. I caught an enormous pike, 18½ inches in the raw. He put up a terrific battle, but I landed him. So I'm having the whole crowd in for a fish dinner."

"Why, I'd love to come," I said. "And that reminds me. Keep next Saturday night open for me; it's our wedding anniversary."

"O, I'm so sorry, darling, but I won't be in town," she said and grinned rather sheepishly. "I'm going back to the north woods with the Redsons . . . for a little fishing."

Wisconsin: Why the Badger State?

Maybe you think that Wisconsin is called the Badger state because it used to be full of badgers, but 'taint so. Wisconsin's first badgers were Cornish miners in the lead mining region around Mineral Point. They were so called because during their first winter they lived in caves in the hills.

Famous Chicago "First."

The site of "Chicago's first football touchdown" [Aug. 7] must mark also the site of the first intercollegiate football game west of the Alleghenies. The date was May 30, 1879, and the field, according to University of Michigan records, the old White Stockings park. Michigan's opponent was not a Chicago athletic club, but Racine college.

The late Irving K. Pond's touchdown [which involved, according to Ann Arbor legend, a circuitous run thru obstacles of crowd and stands] was the only score of the game, Michigan winning 1 to 0. A picture of that 1879 Michigan team, credited as being the first college team in the west, appears in the current intercollegiate football guide, their uniforms resembling nothing fit for the modern game.

"Independent as a Hog on Ice": Why?

I strongly suspect the simile, "Independent as a hog on ice," [Aug. 1] is another case in which misunderstanding has led to corruption of the figure to mean the exact opposite of what was once ironically intended. A hog on ice, alive or dead, is anything but independent. The Saxon.

GOLD—A REMEDY FOR ARTHRITIS.

It was Geoffrey Chaucer, a 14th century poet who wrote in "The Canterbury Tales"—

"For gold in phisik is a cordial,
Therefore he lovede gold in special."

Yes, the yellow metal has long been regarded as a panacea for all ills of mind and body and many an expensive draught has been concocted to restore lost youth—a veritable "elixir of life." Years ago we heard much of the gold cure for alcoholism and many an old toper has imbibed the element as well as what it would buy.

If the drug accomplished anything for bygone generations it was probably because of its influence upon arthritis. Less than 20 years ago, Mollgaard, a Danish physician, advised the use of salts of gold in the treatment of tuberculosis. While this suggestion is still followed in some quarters, an entirely new emphasis was given to the remedy with the observation of a French investigator, Forestier, that patients with arthritis showed marked improvement under this type of therapy.

Then followed a horde of special preparations and most medical men today have accepted gold sodium thiosulfate as a useful remedy. The compound contains sulphur which is a known aid in joint disease. It possesses a desensitizing effect and it is quite possible that this, plus its ability to stimulate the blood forming cells and to hasten the formation of scars, acts to produce satisfactory results.

Can the drug be taken with impunity? No, indeed! On the other hand, when cautiously administered the reactions should be minimal. For a time the sufferer may feel much worse but gradually the acute symptoms subside with some improvement. In a fairly advanced case about all we can hope for is that the malady will be arrested. Even with those who are considered beyond aid the injections appear to be helpful, prior to the application of heat, sunlight, or some other remedy.

The individuals who have the greatest amount of reserve, who are younger in years, usually show the most rapid progress. However, the condition of sufferers who are in their 70s has been altered for the better. One case in particular that came under my observation was that of a 72 year old woman who had battled this crippling disease for several years. The disorder finally became stationary with the victim seriously deformed—well nigh a helpless invalid. Some relief followed the injections of liver, the application of heat, and the use of a streptococcus vaccine.

Then gold was suggested and 25 milligrams were given at five day intervals. This was continued from October until March with resulting freedom of movements, the entire absence of pain, and the ability not only to rise from her chair, but to walk at a brisk pace.

But there are toxic reactions to the medicine similar to those which may follow the use of mercury, lead, copper, and other heavy metals. These vary from fainting with a mild degree of shock to vomiting, swelling of the face and lips, with sensations of heat. With some there may be encountered only a mild headache with grippy feelings that last but for a few hours. In the presence of marked skin eruptions the chances are that the drug cannot be employed at all.

If a series of doses is planned, it is well to allow an interval of at least three months before a second "round" is inaugurated. No patient with damaged kidneys or liver, severe diabetes, anemia, or eczema should be treated with this drug. Much will depend upon the interest of the physician and his skill in making blood counts, at least once each week, to determine the slightest sign of irritation.

IF WE MUST BUILD A CANAL.

Freeport, Ill., Aug. 9.—I note that the rivers and harbors bill includes the St. Lawrence seaway and the Florida ship canal. The Florida canal is estimated at 200 million dollars. The people of south Florida do not want it and the seafaring people do not think it necessary. A Nicaragua canal would be 10 times the value of the Florida canal.

Would it not be better for the defense of the United States to have two canals between the Atlantic and the Pacific in case one was put out of commission? The Florida canal would not add to the defense as we have plenty of bases in the Caribbean sea and the gulf. The Florida canal is the dream of President Roosevelt and Senator Pepper. I believe the dreams of Daniel Webster and Presidents Jackson, Van Buren, and Grant are better.

In 1895 the estimated cost of the Nicaragua canal was 133 million dollars. If the cost were today five times as much it would still be 10 times better than the Florida canal. Robt. D. Kuehner.

SQUALLS ON OUR LAKE.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—In your issue of Aug. 2 was a letter written by George F. Noyes regarding the recent squall on Lake Michigan.

I was one of those who was unexpectedly, and I say that with a foreknowledge of the coming squall, overturned and forced to spend several hours in the cool waters of Lake Michigan until picked up by the coast guard.

Several of the party were confirmed sailors and others had spent their lives near the lake, so we all had a layman's understanding of weather conditions hereabouts. We had discussed the impending change in wind, but contrary to Mr. Noyes' statement the clouds had covered not more than 15 per cent of the sky when the wind suddenly veered to the northeast and caused the mishap.

We maintain that it was one of those freak conditions that so often happen here which brought about our upset. Even our respected weatherman's predictions of thunderstorms are knocked into a "cocked hat" by influences directly attributed to conditions caused by the lake.

Therefore, if any one feels he can accurately predict all conditions on or about Lake Michigan, he would be of inestimable value to the weather predicting service. R. L. Hanson.

WOODROW WILSON ON PEACE.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—The following, in my opinion, is very timely. Discovered it in the Popular Educator recently and thought that it would be a good reminder:

"The example of America must be the example not merely of peace because it will not fight, but of peace because peace is the healing and elevating influence of the world, and strife is not. There is such a thing as a man being too proud to fight. There is such a thing as a nation being so right that it does not need to convince others by force that it is right. . . . Woodrow Wilson [May 10, 1915]." Larry Jay.

THE WORLD'S TRAVAIL.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—Day after day your Voice of the People columns are filled with vitriol for the so-called war mongers and praise for those, who for political or other reasons, oppose them.

Few, if any, published letters place the world's travail at the door of the arch warlord Hitler. Is there any denial here of his responsibility for all the blood and tears?

Many of us have opposed the domestic policies under which we have struggled for the last nine years with all the means at our command, but the new tax burden for a mighty navy, a formidable army and air force is a hateful has-to-be because under any party we stand in the way of Nazi supremacy.

Why cavil about Versailles? It could never have been unless the other warlord, Wilhelm, had not made the same bloody assault for the same ends. If the world is not spared a new and more enslaving Versailles, fabricated by a victorious Nazi Germany, what may we expect for the future?

Surely the problem is—what to do—and the duty is the unification of all Americans.

Let us hope our show of might alone will enable us to be instrumental in peempting a just and lasting peace.

W. T. F.

A MEDDLING UNCLE.

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 9.—I sometimes think Uncle Sam is not consistent in certain respects. We tell all other peoples outside of the western hemisphere to keep out—the Monroe Doctrine. And yet it is not concelvable how a nation could be a greater meddler in other nations' affairs—nations outside of our geographical sphere. But what's the use? Let us hope we can keep our boys at home. That's the supreme thought and desideratum. Arthur J. Richardson.

VOICE OF THE MIDWEST.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 7.—I am a constant reader of The Tribune. It is the only real newspaper in the Mississippi valley and Great Lakes region.

In times like these where there is so little economy practiced and preached by our government, it is good to have a voice reminding us that there is such a thing. David Tozer.

LAUNDRIES.

Lansing, Ill., Aug. 8.—E. P. C. complains about the New Deal placing washing machines in the luxury class. Then he asks: "Have the laundries of America the best of the deal? I think so."

The house ways and means committee has proposed a 10 per cent tax on commercial washing machines used by the laundry industry. Home washing machines have not been taxed because home washers constitute a labor saving device in the home. This is not fair.

As a fact the laundries of America have emancipated the housewives from damp and smelly basements. A 30 per cent decrease in material to the home washer manufacturers is contemplated. That is nothing to get excited about because commercial laundry machinery will be cut 50 per cent.

Send your laundry to the professional laundry, which saves you all the labor. In these days of "Down with Hitler," "Down with Stalin," etc., let's coin a new one, "Down with drudgery."

THAT DANDELION FARM.

Mary R. Black of Cambridge, Wis., wrote to the Voice of the People in June telling of a dandelion farm in Oregon. Asked about it and why, she just sent in to The Tribune a letter from her friend, Mrs. Archie Claggett of Salem, Ore., which said:

"We raise the dandelion seed for a seedhouse; they ship most of the seed to New York state. The Italians sow them for greens and sell them for greens same as our gardeners do spinach. If you would like to see the fields and get the low down on it, drive out some time."

FESTIVAL A BOON TO NATION'S LOVE OF GREAT MUSIC

Dr. Nelson and Mr. Weber Given Much Credit.

Festival Tickets!

Tickets for the 12th Chicagoland Music Festival, to be held next Saturday night in Soldiers' field, are on sale at 50 cents and $1 at The Tribune's public service offices in Tribune Tower and at 1 South Dearborn street. All seats are reserved. Mail order checks should be sent to the Festival ticket manager, Tribune Tower, and should be made payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

The Chicagoland Music festival, which stands alone in presenting vast spectacles of massed music and pageantry, is gaining a new distinction. Music authorities and producers are beginning to recognize it as a significant factor in developing an appreciation of the better music.

Eleven audiences of from 85,000 to 100,000 persons since 1930 have seen how the festival brings good music to great numbers of people. Dozens of other festivals that had their inspiration in Chicagoland's own are spreading good music in ever broadening waves.

Many factors have entered into the festival's success, but its classical triumphs of the last few years are due largely, it is agreed, to two men—Henry Weber and Dr. Edgar Nelson.

Directs Great Chorus.

They dominate two organizations that typify the festival. Dr. Nelson directs the great chorus of 4,400 voices and Mr. Weber conducts the 100 piece symphony orchestra which is its throbbing heart. Together their music has given the festival some of its most profound moments. And the accomplishments of these two men are profound.

Tho Henry Weber was a conductor in his own right and was an idol of Vienna and Bremen when he was 23, his work remained virtually unknown in this country until 1924—when he was 24—and came home to conduct during a season of the old Chicago civic opera. The Weber family, founders of the Weber Wagon works, is one of Chicago's oldest, dating to 1842.

But Henry was born in Berlin in 1900 while his parents were taking a leisurely trip thru Europe. For more than 20 years he lived abroad. When he was 5 the boy came into contact with Hungarian gypsy musicians who so fired his imagination that he determined to make music his career.

In the years that followed he was a pupil of the great Richard Strauss—whom Weber still calls "my master"—and became coach and assistant director of the State Opera, formerly the Imperial, in Vienna. From there he was summoned to Berlin, where he conducted with brilliance in a tryout for Schillings, director of the largest opera there.

He Goes to Bremen.

He refused a position as assistant director, going instead to the Bremen Municipal opera, where he had been guaranteed six performances during the early part of the season if he made good. He conducted 60.

Returning to Chicago, Weber conducted "Tannhäuser" as his debut and caused a sensation.

Since then acclaim for him has mounted. He has been musical and artistic director of the Chicago City opera, has conducted many concerts, and has become known thruout the nation as musical director of station W-G-N, which is noted for its symphonic concerts. He has had the musical direction of the festival since 1936.

Dr. Nelson is president of the Chicago Conservatory of Music, musical director of the Chicago Sunday Evening club, and director of the Marshall Field chorus of the Apollo club.

Makes Tour of Europe.

In the summer of 1920 he took 80 members of the Swedish Choral Club of Chicago to Europe on a tour. In Sweden the tour assumed the character of a national holiday. Dr. Nelson and four others were decorated with the Order of Valhalla by King Gustav V. and the entire club was received at the royal palace.

In 1939 he took over the festival's chorus on short notice and its performance under his direction was one of the most brilliant ever given there. Only a man with great command and infinite knowledge of great choral groups could have taken over the 3,500 voices of that year and have achieved so great a success. As always, the massed chorus was created by blending three great groups, each of which had been rehearsed and trained by other men.

Next Saturday night in Soldiers' field Dr. Nelson will direct 4,400 voices, a blending of the festival chorus, the Festival Negro chorus, and the Illinois Rural chorus.

VICTIM OF BOMB IN CAR RETURNS TO POLICE WORK

Policeman Walter E. Gray of River Forest, who was maimed in a mysterious bomb explosion in his automobile April 3, 1940, returned to work last night. He is permanently crippled. His left leg was amputated just below the knee, and he walks with crutches. In his new job, Gray will be desk sergeant and radio operator at the River Forest police station. He qualified for a federal radio operator's license during his convalescence.

Walter E. Gray.

Gray was injured as he stepped on the starter of his car in front of his home to go to work. The starter set off a dynamite bomb that almost blew the automobile apart. No motive for the crime nor clews have yet been found.

SHOWERS BRING RELIEF AFTER 97.7 DEGREE HIGH

Cooler weather for today, with the temperature dropping to 70 degrees and probably not rising higher than 86, was predicted yesterday by Forecaster Gordon E. Dunn. This will be in sharp contrast to yesterday's 97.7 degree high mark, which tied the all-time top for Aug. 11, set in 1874. An abnormally high humidity aided in making yesterday a day to remember. The suburbs sweltered also, with River Forest reporting 104 degrees; Oak Park, 107; Park Ridge, 95; Des Plaines, 102; Wilmette, 95; Evanston, 98; Morton Grove, 95; Blue Island, 95; Chicago Heights, hot; Harvey, 97; Flossmoor, 98; Waukegan, 96; Highland Park, 95, and Lake Forest, 100. Aided by thundershowers, however, Chicago cooled off in the evening, with the mercury dropping to an unofficial 80 degrees at 10 p. m.

GIRL, 18, IS GIVEN TAVERN LICENSE; INQUIRY ORDERED

Judge Charles Dougherty, sitting in the Boys' court, yesterday ordered an investigation to learn how and why a tavern license was issued to an 18 year old girl. At the same time, he imposed a fine of $100 and costs on the girl's mother, the actual owner of the tavern, on a charge of selling liquor to minors.

The judge described the entire situation as "shameful." The subject of the fine was Mrs. Violet M. Sawadski, 48 years old, owner of the tavern at 3171 Elston avenue.

The neighborhood reaction against the tavern was reflected in court yesterday when three boys and three girls, all minors, appeared in court with their parents, and testified that they had been served liquor by Mrs. Sawadski.

During the hearing, it was disclosed that the tavern license was not in her name but in the name of her daughter, Jennie, who is 18 years old.

An employé in the city license office said that a girl 18 is considered an adult and entitled to a license. Police last night insisted, however, that 21 is the age for an adult—girl or boy. When younger than that, police consider them minors.

FETE EXPECTED TO LURE 20,000 OUT-OF-TOWNERS

Mail Orders Pour In from All Over Country.

Twenty thousand out of town visitors will be attracted to Chicago by the 12th annual Chicagoland Music Festival next Saturday evening, according to mail order sales, which, so far have poured in from all parts of the country.

"Our mail order sales are 25 per cent ahead of last year," William Sturm, ticket manager of Tribune events, stated yesterday. "They indicate that more than one-fourth of the gate will be out of town visitors, with the possibility of even a greater percentage, since a great many visitors purchase their tickets over the counter when they get to Chicago."

Large Blocks Reserved.

Blocks of seats ranging from 200 to 300 already have been reserved for organizations with national and state-wide memberships.

The majority of requests for tickets are flooding in from Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Iowa, and Michigan. Davenport, Ia., will have a large representation as will Milwaukee, Wis., Elkhart, Ind., and Moline, Ill. Parties are being formed for the festival as far away as St. Paul, Minn.

Indiana will have the largest representation of any state outside of Illinois.

It is estimated that the festival visitors will spend approximately $200,000 during their brief stay in the city. According to letters received by Sturm several farmers are planning to mix business with pleasure and purchase farm equipment before the concert. Small town women will take advantage of their day in the city for shopping, and some rural residents are expected to purchase automobiles because of Chicago's speedier deliveries.

Special Railroad Schedules.

Special schedules with extra trains and cars are being arranged by four railroad companies. Suburbanites will be given special service by the Illinois Central. Beginning at about 4 p. m. Saturday all trains will stop at the 18th street station, which is accessible to Soldiers' field. All will carry at least six cars.

During the last 11 years the Chicagoland Music Festival has been attended by well over 1,000,000 music lovers from all sections of the United States and Canada. It has attracted 65,000 contestants.

BELIEVE SILK SAWS FREED 6 PRISONERS IN OREGON CO. JAIL

Oregon, Ill., Aug. 11 [Special].—Unable to locate hacksaws or steel shavings, officers today advanced the theory that six prisoners who fled from the Oregon county jail last night, effected their release by sawing thru their jail bars with silk threads and soap, or hair and soap, using grit and dust from the floor for an abrasive.

Sheriffs and police all over the state have been notified of the break.

Deputy Sheriff John Wiley, who is on duty in the jail office at night, learned of the break at 3 a. m. The prisoners, who had been in a corridor without cells, apparently had leaped nine feet to the ground after sawing their bars. Eight prisoners remained in the jail.

One of the fugitives, William Sullivan, had been removed to the county jail for safe keeping after he attempted to escape from the city lockup at Rochelle, where he had been incarcerated for drunkenness.

The others were identified as:

Donald Dwyer, 17 year old Chicago Negro, accused of attempting to wreck a railway train.

Paul Heinz of Mendota, Kenneth Powers and Joe Sanders, both of Paris, Tenn., charged jointly with the theft of an automobile. Heinz later was captured in a room which his wife had rented. No trace of the others had been found late tonight.

TALKING JUKES GET O. K. FROM BOYLE'S UNION

Talking juke boxes, known as automatic hostesses, were assured the right of operating without molestation in the Broadway-Wilson avenue district yesterday when a contract was signed by the K. P. Music corporation, 1057 Wilson avenue, providing that its talking jukes will obtain service from the Electrical Workers' union.

The company, after placing 18 talking jukes in taverns about three weeks ago, complained that the union refused service and that some of its business agents told tavern owners the talking boxes could not operate. The reason, it was said, was that Michael J. Boyle, boss of the union, did not want the automatic hostesses to cut in on the business of some friends of his who operated old style jukes in the neighborhood.

Sergt. George Barnes of the detective bureau labor detail was the intermediary in obtaining the union's signature to a contract, which in effect is described as a promise to refrain from interfering with the automatic hostesses.

Five Bandits, Two of Them Boys, Hold Up Drug Store

Five bandits, two of them not more than 15 years old, held up Bernard Pratt's drug store at 2858 Roosevelt road yesterday. They took $40 from the till; $45 from a customer, Curtis Dillow, 8510 Essex avenue, and $3.75 from a clerk, Albert Rosenberg, 3900 Congress street.

3 GOON SUSPECTS FLEE WARRANTS IN MILK DISPUTE

Sheriff Blames Heat; Says He's Doing His Duty.

Three alleged labor goons who beat Fred Twietmeyer, Homewood dairy owner, to stop the sale of milk in gallon and half gallon containers, have fled to Wisconsin, Sheriff Joseph J. O'Neill of Will county said yesterday.

Elrie Floyd.

Twietmeyer, his nose broken and head lacerated in the assault, personally took over the delivery of the low priced milk in Joliet and Lockport yesterday. He said he would not permit his regular driver, Burt Adams, to run the risk of similar punishment.

Assault Is Charged.

Three business agents of the Teamsters' and Chauffeurs' union of Joliet are sought on warrants charging assault and fixing bond at $5,000. They are Howard Floyd, 21 years old, of Manhattan, 9 miles south of Joliet; Elrie [Husky] Floyd, his uncle, whose address is unknown, and Jerry Dodge, 210 North Broadway, Joliet.

"Don't think we're laying down on the job," Sheriff O'Neill said. "We've been 'a-hustlin'. I heard they ducked out to Wisconsin because of the heat here. I don't want that kind of goings-on in Will county and I'm going to do my duty. I had two deputies out looking for them at the homes we know about and also at plants where I understand Howard Floyd has had a job driving a construction truck."

As proof of his zeal, the sheriff offered the fact that he had Elgin police pick up a man named Howard Floyd. However, it developed that this Howard Floyd, also a business agent of the Teamsters' union, is an uncle of the Howard Floyd being sought.

Earlier Collisions with Law.

In 1936 Elrie Floyd was acquitted in the Circuit court in Joliet on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. After three ballots the jury decided he was not guilty of slugging a driver for the American Baking company during an organization campaign.

In 1933, however, Elrie was fined $50 and costs on a Joliet city charge of carrying a concealed weapon—a blackjack. Howard Floyd, his brother, was fined $50 on a similar city charge and $200 on a state charge for having an automatic pistol in his car.

C. J. Kellem, managing director of the Joliet Association of Commerce, said nothing would be done about the situation "unless we decide that the authorities are not active, as we believe they are."

The Topz dairy in Joliet, a small firm, also has had trouble over sales of milk in gallon and half gallon bottles. About a year ago Virgil Floyd Sr., union secretary, called at the office and ordered sales to 15 stores halted. Union agents also went to the stores and threatened to picket them, and the sales stopped, according to Miss Isabelle Chellina, assistant manager of the dairy.

Twietmeyer's milk sells at 34 cents a gallon and 18 cents a half gallon, in comparison with the standard Joliet price of 13 cents for one quart, 24 cents for two quarts, and 33 cents for three quarts.

TRAPS INVADING SWARMS OF BEES AT ARMS PLANT

W. E. Driscoll reported yesterday that, after capturing 7½ bushels of them, he has reduced the danger of invasion by bees of the Kankakee ordnance works near Wilmington, in Will county, by 68 per cent. But he still has 3½ bushels to go before the job is complete.

The bees were left over when the government acquired farms for the plant site. It is well known among apiarists that rattling a couple of pie tins makes bees swarm. It had not previously been known that the same effect could be obtained with an air hammer or an automatic riveter, but every time workmen constructing the plant used those tools clouds of bees swarmed down.

Driscoll, a beekeeper at home in Peoria, is employed on construction of the ordnance plant as an equipment clerk. With a mask, gloves, and a hive, he has so far lured 15 of the 22 bee colonies he estimates are loose at Wilmington into captivity.

That's about 300,000 bees so far, and he's added them to his own swarms in Peoria.

Gets Injunction

MRS. FLORENCE SHAYA.

Mrs. Florence Blazevich Shaya, 25 years old, of 6049 74th court, Argo, complained yesterday to Judge John P. McGoorty that her former husband, Joseph Blazevich, of 6051 75th court, Argo, was ruining her new marriage. Her lawyers, Joseph H. and Norman Becker, said that Blazevich was in the habit of calling at her new home and listing her defects for the benefit of her present husband. Among other remarks attributed to him was that she had a vicious temper, and that her new husband would do well to beware of her.

Judge McGoorty issued an injunction restraining Blazevich from continuing his gossip. The judge continued until Sept. 8 Blazevich's petition for a reduction in support of $12 a week for a daughter, Arline, 6. Mrs. Shaya's attorneys said he sought the reduction only because he is building a home for his own new wife. Mrs. Shaya divorced him Feb. 2, 1940.

2 GUNMEN SEIZE $18,000, LOCK 5 IN ICE BOX, AND FLEE

Two bandits, armed with revolvers and wearing handkerchief masks, took approximately $18,000 from the Continental Currency exchange, which is operated in a tavern at 7706 Vincennes avenue, early yesterday.

The robbers forced M. A. Proven, 56 years old, 512 South Kenilworth avenue, Oak Park, the manager of the exchange; his sons, Paul and Joseph, who were working behind the bar across the room from the currency exchange cages, and two bar customers into the tavern ice box. The victims escaped by breaking a window after the robbers had fled.

"Hand over the money or I'll shoot every one in here," one of the robbers told the elder Proven when they entered the room. The robber forced Proven to put the money in bags and hand it thru the money cages. His companion stood near the door and menaced the younger Provens and the customers with his revolver. Then they forced the men into the ice box and fled. Gresham police said the exchange is insured against robbery.

Coast Guards Rescue Eight After Squall Disables Boats

Wilmette coast guards rescued eight men late yesterday after three boats were disabled by a squall which struck the lake. Harry Molter, 325 Central avenue, Wilmette, and three other men were taken from his sailboat, the Breeze Teaser, after it had capsized a half mile off shore. The predicaments from which the other men were saved were not so serious. All rescues were made by Chief Boatswain's Mate John Kinneyman and a crew.

Lieut. Joseph Pieroth Retires; Given Dinner

Nearly 700 fellow policemen and friends were at a farewell dinner in the La Salle hotel Grand ballroom last night for Lieut. Joseph Pieroth of the Maxwell street station, who became 63 years old yesterday and retired under the compulsory retirement act after 35 years of service. Lieut. Pieroth lives at 7735 South Loomis street. He has been assigned to the Maxwell street station for 12 years.

REPORTS MEXICO IS ANTI-NAZI AND ANTI-COMMUNIST

Comacho Message Brought to AFL Council.

Assurances that Mexico is prepared to stamp out any Nazi, Fascist or communist movements, and that she will coöperate with the United States to defend the western hemisphere, were received by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor yesterday from President Manuel Avila Camacho of Mexico. The council is in session at the Drake hotel.

President Camacho's message was brought by Matthew Woll, AFL vice president, who has just returned from Mexico City. While there, Woll attended the convention of CROM, Mexican Regional Labor federation.

Reds, Nazis on Wane.

"Friendship with the United States is stronger in Mexico today than ever before," Woll said, "and it is obvious that Nazi and communist influences are on the wane. The communist wing in the labor movement has lost its strength and standing."

The CROM, Woll said, went on record as favoring collaboration with the AFL to revive the Pan-American Federation of Labor.

Twelve pickets from the Retail Clerks International Protective association, representing the group which recently helped oust Max Caldwell, alias Pollack, the former bootlegger who gained control of the union, paraded in front of the Drake yesterday.

Protest Charter Refusal.

They carried signs reading "AFL Wants Crooks, Not Clerks," "I Am the Ghost of a Clean Labor Movement, Assassinated by AFL," and others, including one showing three rings, linked together, bearing the names of Caldwell, William Green, AFL president, and C. C. Coulter, secretary-treasurer of the clerks' international group.

The demonstrators said they were protesting failure of the group to obtain a charter, sent by Green to Victor A. Olander, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois Federation of Labor. Olander has declined to turn the charter over to a temporary working committee and temporary officers on the grounds that they represent only one faction of the membership.

Green was asked about a report that he would resign at the October AFL convention. He said he had no comment to make.

Last Saturday in Portland, Ore., William H. Davis, chairman of the national defense mediation board, told interviewers that it was common knowledge in Washington that Green would resign this fall.

MICHENER GETS MILD REBUKE AT CIO CONVENTION

Move to Bar Him from Office Beaten.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 11.—United Auto Workers [CIO] delegates, torn by bitter strife over the issue of strike leadership, adopted a subminority grievance committee report today recommending a mild penalty for Lew H. Michener, west coast regional director of the union's activities in the aircraft industry.

L. H. Michener.

Official tabulation on a roll call vote taken on the report at the sixth national convention of the United Automobile, Aircraft and Agricultural Implement Workers showed 1,558 favored adoption and 1,460 opposed.

The delegates were polled after Michener defended his support of the five day unauthorized strike at the North American Aviation plant at Inglewood, Cal., last June, which ended with occupation of United States troops, and termed his case a "political issue."

Michener, a follower of Harry Bridges, alleged communist, was accused of disobeying orders of CIO officials in leading the strike. Michener himself has been accused of communistic leanings.

Defended by Schuller.

The subminority recommendation, drafted by Jack Schuller, Detroit, asked the convention only to disqualify Michener for election to the union executive board, asserting "complete loss of the privilege of membership" is too severe a punishment "to inflict upon one who has loyally fought the battle of the workers."

Richard T. Frankensteen, UAW-CIO aviation director, who during the strike said the walkout was "engineered by communists," appealed to the delegates to adopt the report.

Deploring the placing of "filthy, rotten politics over the rank and file of the membership," Michener denied he was seeking to split the union and to form an independent union of automobile and aircraft workers on the west coast. He also denied he disobeyed higher officers of the union.

Ban on Offices Urged.

The majority report of the seven member grievance committee recommended Michener be prohibited from holding "either elective or appointive office" for one year, that he be "severely censured" and that the policy and actions taken during the strike by Murray, Thomas, and Frankensteen be "fully justified."

The minority report suggested Michener be expelled and that all international representatives who defied Murray, Thomas, and Frankensteen be banned immediately from holding any office, elective or appointive, for five years.

BOY STRUCK BY STREET CAR.

Eugene Taylor, 5 years old, of 1625 North avenue, was injured critically late yesterday when he was struck by a street car.

WARREN J. LINCOLN, KILLER OF TWO, DIES IN JOLIET HOSPITAL

Warren J. Lincoln, former Aurora lawyer and horticulturist, died yesterday in the hospital at Joliet penitentiary where he was sentenced to life imprisonment in 1925 for the murder of his wife, Lina. He also was indicted for the murder of his brother-in-law, Byron Shoup, which he confessed.

Warren J. Lincoln.

Lincoln, whose trial was one of the most sensational in Illinois criminal annals, confessed having burned the bodies of his victims in his greenhouse furnace. Later he embedded their heads in a block of concrete. The crime was committed Jan. 10, 1923, and might have remained undetected if Lincoln had not chosen to disappear April 29 of the same year, only to reappear later and accuse his wife and Shoup, whose disappearance he had previously announced, of kidnaping him.

Lincoln, a distant relative of the Civil war President, was 62 years old, and would have been eligible for parole in another four years. During his trial expert testimony was given to the effect that he could not live more than two more years.

Friday Is Irish Day; Celebration to Be Held

Mayor Kelly yesterday designated Friday as "Irish Day" in recognition of the celebration of "Lady Day in Harvest," an Irish feast to be observed Friday at Harms park, 4203 North avenue.

2 Phone Cables Broken in Subway Construction

If you had trouble getting telephone numbers in the Wrigley building or the Navy pier yesterday blame it on the subway. B. C. Broberg, installation foreman for the Illinois Bell Telephone company, said subway workmen at Hubbard and State streets broke two cables and could have thrown out a total of 2,400 phones, if all strands in each cable had been severed.

Recent Brides Making First Chicago Visits

BY JUDITH CASS.

NEWS of brides-to-be and of two recent brides who are back in Chicago for the first time since their weddings is of interest today. One of the brides-to-be is Miss Modrea Mullen, the James Bernard Mullens' daughter, who is to have a wedding reception and dance in place of an old-fashioned debut party on Sept. 5. She will be married that evening to William H. Mitchell Jr., becoming the second debutante of this season to have a wedding instead of a debut. The first was the former Althea Cunningham, now Mrs. William B. Johnson.

Mrs. Harmar Denny Ker, the former Marion Gordon, who was married three weeks ago today in Boston, has arrived from Newport, R. I., with her sister, Miss Evelyn Gordon, to be with their mother, Mrs. Frank Gordon, while she convalesces from an attack of pneumonia. Mrs. Gordon will be at the Michael Reese hospital until the end of the week, and soon after that she hopes to make the trip to Cape Cod for a summer holiday that was postponed when she was taken ill. Mrs. Ker and her sister have been hunting for an apartment in Newport, where Ensign Ker and his bride expect to start housekeeping.

Mr. and Mrs. Weise to Be Here Until Tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Weise [Imogene Bucklin], who were married last November at the Glendora, Cal., home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vail R. Bucklin, have arrived from Los Angeles to be here until tomorrow afternoon. They are staying in the Bucklins' Astor street apartment and are en route to spend Mr. Bucklin's birthday with him at the Bucklins' Vermont home. Mr. Weise is meeting as many of his wife's friends as time permits.

Mr. Mitchell and his bride will start housekeeping in Oakland, Cal., near the Boeing Aviation school, in which he is to be a student. They will depart for the west coast immediately after the wedding, which is to be a small one for the families only at the Mullen house in Lake Forest, and the small reception following at the Onwentsia club. Miss Mullen, whose mother is well known as the artist, Buell Mullen, is a granddaughter of Mrs. James C. Buell. She attended the Lake Forest Country Day school, Ferry hall, and the Art institute.

Young Mr. Mitchell, a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Garfield King, is the son of Mrs. King Mitchell and of William H. Mitchell of Lake Forest. He attended the Los Alamos school and Middlesex, and started his college career at Trinity. He has been making his home with his father while his subdebutante sister, Ginevra, lives with their mother.

Catherine Jean Klink to Be Married Aug. 29.

Mr. and Mrs. Barton Cameron [Marion Klink] will be coming up to Chicago this month from St. Louis, where Mr. Klink has been stationed as a lieutenant at Jefferson barracks, for the marriage of her sister, Miss Catherine Jean Klink, to Lieut. Edmund Leavenworth McGibbon. Mrs. Cameron is expected a week or so before the wedding, which will take place on Aug. 29 in Mrs. Alexander Foster Klink's home in Evanston. She will be her sister's matron of honor and only attendant. Mr. Cameron will fly up two days before the wedding to give his sister-in-law in marriage to the young lieutenant in the naval reserve.

The bride's aunts, Mrs. Wilmer W. Salmon and Mrs. William L. Houck, will come from Larchmont, N. Y., for the ceremony. Other visitors will be Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Leavenworth of Ferndale, Mich., cousins of the bridegroom. Mr. Leavenworth is to be best man. Mr. McGibbon, who is the son of Mrs. William McGibbon of Kenilworth, hasn't yet completed his list of ushers.

Luncheon and Shower First Party for Miss Klink.

Last week Mrs. Howard Spurgeon started off the parties for Miss Klink with a luncheon and surprise shower in Glencoe. Mrs. Cameron will give a luncheon and shower on Aug. 22, probably at the Shawnee Country club. Mrs. Fred J. Stebbins and Mrs. William Osgood will be hostesses at a luncheon and shower on Aug. 23 at the Skokie Golf club, and that evening is reserved for Sheldon Vanzwoll's party.

Miss Gloria Matthews will give the spinster dinner on Aug. 27 in her home in Evanston. The following night is being saved for the rehearsal and bridal dinner in the Klink home.

Mrs. Jean Whiting Spalding Wed to Elliott Maxwell.

Mrs. Jean Whiting Spalding of 1158 5th avenue, New York, widow of Jesse Spalding, was married yesterday afternoon at her summer home in East Hampton, Mass., to Elliott Maxwell, son of Mrs. Robert Maxwell of Pittsburgh and the late Mr. Maxwell.

The bride was given in marriage by her son, Jesse Spalding III. Present were the bride's mother, Mrs. John Hill Whiting of Chicago, and the bride's younger daughter, Miss Joy Spalding. Her other daughter, Mrs. Allison Maxwell Jr. of Houston, Tex., who is married to a nephew of the bridegroom, was unable to come for the ceremony. The bride's younger son, John Hill Spalding of Squadron A, 101st cavalry, Fort Devens, Mass., also was unable to be present. Mrs. Jesse Spalding III. was in the wedding party.

Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell will divide their time between New York, Pittsburgh, and the south. The bride is a member of the Colony club. Mr. Maxwell is executive vice president of the Carnegie Illinois Steel corporation.

Mrs. John P. Gorman is on the committee in charge of a series of civic concerts to be held in Oak Park this fall and winter. Circle 27 of the Oak Park and River Forest center of the Infant Welfare society will receive the proceeds. The first concert will be given on Oct. 24.

Subscription Sales for Chicago Opera Season Are Opened

The Chicago Opero company yesterday announced the opening of its season subscription sale for the five weeks of opera to be given in the Civic Opera house from Nov. 10 to Dec. 13 this year. It also confirmed the earlier announcement of a preseason, nonsubscription performance on Nov. 8.

A season subscription will entitle a purchaser to occupy the same seat on the same day of the week for five consecutive weeks. Furthermore, he will save nearly 10 per cent on box office prices. Subscription prices range from $5 to $20 for regular performances, and $3.75 to $12.50 for the board of education series on Friday night.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

It begins to look as tho at long last all the hopeful predictions that shorter hair was making a comeback will come true this fall and winter.

For once, there is a sharp difference between styles for the young girls and styles for the women. And that is certainly as it should be.

The young girls will not cut their hair, and that seems to be final. The universal college fashion is hair flowing to the shoulders, burnished to a high gloss and tricked up a little bit high in the front with a suggestion of a pompadour or at least a roll.

But for the over 20s it's a different story. In the east the fashion for hair 2 or 2½ inches long is quite well established as a practical and becoming arrangement for women. It's beautifully cut, takes an upward sweep, and has a feathery look that is most attractive.

That upward sweep for the older woman is "important," as the fashion scouts would say. It's good style and it suits the lines of the hats. But its greatest asset, at least from our point of view, is that it flatters. The upward line of hair counteracts the downward droop of contour. It gives the lift that the face of the not-so-young needs. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Chorus Contest Victors Led by Husband, Wife

A husband and wife directed two choruses to first place honors for their groups in the Chicagoland Music festival competition in the Drake hotel last night. The final contests, including choral groups from far and wide, will be held Saturday afternoon prior to the great show in Soldiers' field that night.

Charles F. Stephens led the Chicago Lithuanian chorus "Pirmyn" to win in class A of the mixed chorus group—those of 50 or more singers. His wife, Alice, had clear sailing because her "Alice Stephens Singers" comprised the only entry in the women's chorus class.

As permitted by the rules, 20 girls sang in both choruses of the Stephens couple. Under Mrs. Stephens they appeared in white piqué gowns with flower corsages. Then they hurried to a dressing room to change to pink, yellow, and green frocks—pastel dilutions of the Lithuanian national colors. Thus they sang under Mr. Stephens.

The large "Pirmyn" chorus is in its second generation. Parents of the present members sang in it at its organization 32 years ago. Accustomed to such feats as presenting a grand opera and a light opera each season, these choristers took it in stride when invited to make a European tour as guests of the Lithuanian government in 1938.

In nostalgic mood the chorus chose a Lithuanian folk song, "Far Beyond the Sea," for its optional number. "The Ships of Arcady," a tricky arrangement to test the balance of the component groups of the choruses, was the required number for all mixed chorus.

The Hartzell Young People's chorus under James T. Campbell placed second behind the "Pirmyn" group in the judges' rating. Despite the name, there was some gray hair in this aggregation of colored singers, who offered "Soon Ah Will Be Done" as the selection of their choice.

The Canticle singers under Zdzislaw Skubikowski were first in class B of the mixed chorus—under 50 members. The Chicago Radio ensemble directed by Lois Albright was second, and the St. Agnes mixed chorus led by Margaret Quinn-Fox was third.

All of the choruses which sang last night practiced a bit under Dr. Edgar Nelson, general choral director of the festival, so they will be able to join 4,000 other choristers at Soldiers' field in singing "Land of Hope and Glory" in one of the mass features of the spectacle. All will also help present the Hallelujah chorus from "The Messiah" by Handel.

Music from many instruments will be heard in the grand ballroom of the Drake tonight at the Cook county eliminations for the festival instrumental contest. Tonight's winners will compete in the finals Saturday night.

On this evening's bill are 26 accordionists, four Hawaiian guitarists, two Spanish guitarists, two tenor banjoists, a mandolinist, and eight trombonists. Admission will be 25 cents. The program will begin at 7 o'clock.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 11.—The public doesn't forget, all other legends to the contrary. At last week's China Relief Moon festival thousands jammed three Los Angeles Chinatowns to cheer a parade of movie stars. I gauged the cheers in my section, and those getting the top volume were Bob Hope—and Laurel and Hardy. Stan and the Babe are returning to the screen, but they've been off it two years; yet they rank with Bob, who is Hollywood's new white haired boy. . . . In the parade such stars as Hope, Eddie Robinson, and Raymond Massey had carriages all to themselves, with signs giving their names. Other players were doubled up, such as Jackie Cooper and Bonita Granville. Many of filmdom's pretty babes—the ones who do the leg art, the picture stunts, and the night clubs, and whose romances are forever being chronicled in the columns—decorated the procession. As a detachment of these lovelies went by, all with signs telling who they are, a woman behind me remarked to her husband, "A lot of people in things I never heard of." . . . Which proves that there's only one place to win screen fame—and that's on the screen.

The screen fame problem is one that is besetting Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer at the moment. Great care and an immense amount of money have been put into "The Chocolate Soldier," in which Nelson Eddy has a new singing partner, Rose Stevens. Now, Miss Stevens is a popular concert star and a notable member of the Metropolitan Opera company—but she lacks screen fame because she's never been seen in a movie. The studio isn't worried about her performance in "Chocolate Soldier," for the rushes have been viewed and she's fine. But the studio wants, if possible, to give her a head start; to have her begin making friends with the audiences before the picture begins. So there will be a prologue—a Merrill Pye cloud effect on the screen, and off screen Miss Stevens and Eddy singing all the credits. Lyrics and a score have been written, and the pair will chant even the copyright line. This pleasant novelty should set Miss Stevens with the customers before their first glimpse of her in "The Chocolate Soldier."

Olga Celeste finally has the chance to play herself on the screen after years of doubling. She'll have a brief moment in Sabu's "The Jungle Book." Olga, a circus star for 40 years and a wild animal trainer for more than 30, is putting her leopards and tigers thru their paces in the new jungle film, and will play a small rôle herself. She made her film debut in "The Adventures of Kathlyn," doubling for Kathlyn Williams. She doubled for Claudette Colbert in "Cleopatra" and "The Sign of the Cross"; for Jacqueline Logan in "The King of Kings," and for Dorothy Lamour in "The Jungle Princess."

Ouida Rathbone is planning another of her ultra parties. It'll be Aug. 25 at the Copa club, for the benefit of British war relief and the RAF. . . . Contractors have been asked for bids on the motion picture relief fund's new home for ill and busted actors. The home will be on 41 acres in the San Fernando valley—and big shots, if they want to, can endow a bungalow instead of a bed. . . . Judy Canova is to star in Paramount's flicker, "Private Yoo-Hoo." She just finished a real-life comedy called "Corporal Oops? My Mistake." . . . Ellen Drew and Sy Bartlett, who will marry Friday at Lake Tahoe, will move into their new Bel-Air home in a month—and then Ellen goes to work in something called "Prison Widows." . . . One way to get a leading rôle is to wear a director down. Martha O'Driscoll wanted the lead in "Air Raid." For a month she hammered at Ralph Murphy. Every day she'd contrive to run into him somewhere on the Paramount lot, and every day she wore a different costume and every day she'd ask, "Is this the way the girl would dress in 'Air Raid'?" Ralph finally gave her the job.

Classic Music or Swing, They Cheer Benny

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Benny Goodman is a musical Jekyll and Hyde who at one time can make the connoisseurs marvel at his tone and taste, and at another set the jitterbugs cutting rugs like mad.

He appeared at Grant park last night as both Jekyll and Hyde, playing the Mozart clarinet concerto with the Woman's Symphony orchestra under Nikolai Malko's direction, and later bringing his own band to the stage of the band shell for an all-out program of swing. Both ventures were successful. There was cordial applause for his work as a "classical" clarinetist, and shouts and squeals of ecstasy for the swing music of himself and his fellow cutups.

Goodman is an astonishingly good clarinetist. He played the Mozart with a pure, soft, unforced tone and with a delectable agility. And his grasp of the classical style was apparent in his long, serene lines and in his sense of the balance of phrase against phrase. He knows how to vary his tone subtly, and he achieves some extraordinary effects without going outside of the Mozart style to do so.

Enthusiasm mounted steadily, and when the men of Goodman's band started taking the places vacated by the woman's orchestra the thousands of high school youngsters packed in front of the band shell became all but hysterical. There was a strangled quality of unbearable excitement in their shouts and ejaculations, and when the great Goodman himself appeared they gave their last reserves of breath in a great welcoming yell.

Not quite their last, at that, for when their idol—who was acting in the triple capacity of leader, clarinet player, and master of ceremonies—announced that the band would play "Intermezzo" as its second number, a shout of such ecstasy went up that you would have sworn that the whole crowd had just been inducted into paradise. And apparently it was paradise. You never saw so many intent, shining faces in this sad old world.

Besides furnishing a beautifully calculated accompaniment for Goodman, Malko, and the orchestra offered on their own account Beethoven's overture to "Fidelio," the Brahms Fourth symphony, and Tschaikowsky's overture fantasy, "Romeo and Juliet."

INSTALMENT XXVI.

PSYCHOANALYSIS.

Kathleen was too ruffled to sit down. She propped herself against the veranda rail. "All right, Toby, give me an instance of Mr. Greer's smartness."

"You should have seen the way he searched the cabin. Did I learn something! O boy, it was interesting. He had the most fascinating gadgets."

Toby was eager, thrilled—next thing to happy. Kathleen controlled a sharp rebuke that rose to her tongue. It was hard sometimes to remember that Toby was only 16, and with all his sympathy could never enter into her poignant adult suffering. She bit her lips to steadiness.

"Tell me about them, Toby."

"First, I must tell you what we found. You'd think the police had never been there. A cache under the living room floor in the foundations big enough for a man to hide in—or to stow a couple of bodies. There was a demijohn of whisky there keeping cool in a wicker basket. We hauled it out in the daylight without touching the jar. Bill sprayed it with powder and photographed a thousand fingerprints."

"Bill?" repeated Kathleen astounded.

"Sure. He told me to call him Bill. He said if he heard Mr. Greer again he'd throw me down the mountain. He's fun in his quiet way when you get to know him."

"So it seems. Did he blame Higby or Hugo for storing the whisky?" Toby smiled at the memory of his busy morning.

"He says he keeps an open mind to encourage things to drop in. But he's like a hound, too, for smelling things in queer places. He found the way to trace Higby. There was a story signed Victor Higby in every one of those magazines."

Kathleen was impressed. "Of all things for us to miss that. And so simple."

"Bill says it's the simple things escape people. He says anything an inch off the usual track can point the way to some funny business. Even a man washing his face first if it's his habit to wash his ears first."

"He certainly has a suspicious nature."

Toby missed the irony.

"Sure. He says it might mean the man was rattled. He says watch yourself doing things and you'll soon see you're nothing but a bundle of personal habits."

Kathleen glanced down at herself. Her hands were in the pockets of her slacks and her right foot was crossed over her left ankle. When she leaned back against the veranda rail she always stood that way. There might be other things she always did which would leave a trail behind her if the right eyes went looking for it. She felt faintly uneasy.

"So you had a lesson in psychological detection?"

"I'm coming to that. The next thing we found was the bundle of money fastened with a wide blue rubber band. Eighteen hundred dollars in five and 10 dollar bills!"

"Where on earth did you find that?"

"In a tin tobacco box in a hole behind a loose brick in the fireplace. It wouldn't have burned if the fire was lit. It wouldn't even have got hot. The box also was covered with prints."

"Not Hugo's?"

"We don't know. You'll have to get us some specimens of his."

Kathleen's heart began to thud heavily. "Do you realize, Toby, the presence of the whisky and the money were not known to the person who used that place to meet Jeanie? Or the box and the jar would also have been wiped clean of fingerprints."

"That's right, Kathleen. Or—or maybe he thought they were safe. Or maybe he didn't have time—"

Kathleen winced. One morning with the detective and Toby had the abstract attitude to the murder. Her own distress about Hugo had not made her forget Jeanie's greater misfortune, nor dulled her compassion.

"Did you find anything else?"

"Yes. Somebody elderly or old has slept up there. Bill found three hairs on a lower mattress that looked brown. Under his glass they showed they were dyed. They had been white."

"Writers are notoriously vain, Toby."

"Sure it might be him. But then it mightn't. We'll soon know. And the police couldn't find him. Bill's a prince. You're getting service for your money."

Her mind was so full of Wilkie Stokes that she gave no importance to the finds in the cabin.

"The police didn't want to. They had Hugo. They found him hiding. That was enough. I wonder they bothered to give him a trial."

Toby took the last sandwich. "Don't be bitter, Kathleen. They wouldn't stay in a place where the worst crime is that of owning a dog without a license if they weren't born stupid. The New York police would have solved it. Bill says it's a revelation to see the things they do in the laboratory. He says any minute some guy will turn up with a gadget that reads thoughts, and then—finish!"

"Finish him," said Kathleen. "No more work for the poor detective!"

Toby refused to be deflated.

"Honestly, Kathleen, that question and answer technique is practically thought reading already. He wants to try that on the Jessel sisters. But first he'll have to worm his way into them."

Kathleen felt tired and sat down. If she could read Wilkie Stokes' thoughts she would know the whole ghastly story. The idea that she could even half do it appalled her. But she would accomplish nothing if she could not conquer natural terror.

"What's this question and answer technique?" she asked nonchalantly.

It was evident that Greer's morbid talents had caught the boy's imagination. Toby was brimming over with his new interest.

"Well, Kathleen, I can't tell you how he told it. And he said a lot of names of famous psychologists I can't remember. But the point is this. They use association of ideas. If they say river you might think of sea or if I say rain you might think of wet. And if I say red you might think rose. But if you had murder in your mind you would think of blood. Or if I said knife you might think bread, but a murderer might think of a special kind of wound. He might think of the word throat."

"Yes, I see. It's a form of psychoanalysis."

"That's right. That's what he said it started from."

Kathleen began to feel a surging excitement.

"Go on, Toby. Did he tell you how it's used to probe a murderer's thoughts about his crime?"

"Sure. He said you prepare a list of words and most of them don't matter and you mix with them words that have relation to the murder. Those are called the critical words and the ones that don't matter are called indifferent words. You read the list to the person and he has to reply to each the first word that comes into his head.

"You have to notice if his answers get slow because he's trying to think something different about a frightening word than the first thing that comes to his mind. Bill says even the hardened criminals can't help mulling over a crime."

Kathleen licked dry lips.

"And he's going to try that on Mrs. Thornley and Miss Jessel? How on earth——"

"He says it's easy when he's looked over the house three or four times and petted the cats. They'll ask him to tea and he'll show them card tricks and make them play the society word game. He says even people who read intellectual books and should know what it's all about fall for it. Especially women."

Kathleen began to think of some critical words. Toby broke into her thoughts.

"For instance, if a word in the list were 'belt,' somebody guilty might say 'death'."

"But what about this, Toby? Any one in this neighborhood could easily be thinking about the murder. It's the only dramatic thing that ever happened here."

"But not worrying about it so that the worry pops out. I guess he knows what he's doing."

August is the month when jellied salads containing meat, fish, or chicken are frequently found on the luncheon table, the reason being double-barreled, because these are pleasant warm weather dishes and they're easy on the cook.

Cook your own chicken for jellied chicken, or buy it canned and ready for use. If you use canned chicken, you'll want bouillon or canned consommé to take the place of the chicken broth you'd otherwise have for flavoring the gelatin.

Jellied Chicken Salad.

[Serves six.]

1 tablespoon plain gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1¼ cups hot chicken broth
½ teaspoon salt [more if needed]
1-16 teaspoon pepper
2 cup cooked, thinly sliced chicken
½ cup diced celery
2 tablespoons minced green pepper
1 teaspoon minced onion
¾ cup cream, whipped

Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve in hot chicken broth. [Chill the broth to precipitate the fat, then remove fat and heat the broth.] Add seasonings. Chill until nearly set, then fold in chicken, celery, green pepper, onion and cream. Chill until firm and serve on lettuce, garnished with pimiento strips. Add a spoonful of mayonnaise to each serving.

Jellied Tuna or Salmon Salad.

[Serves six.]

1 tablespoon plain gelatin
¼ cup cold water
¾ cup hot water
1 tablespoon vinegar or lemon juice
½ teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup flaked salmon or tuna
¼ cup diced celery.
¾ cup diced or coarsely grated cucumber

Soften gelatin in cold water, dissolve in hot water, and add vinegar, paprika and salt. Chill until the mixture begins to congeal, then add fish, celery and cucumber. Chill until firm. Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise.

Piquant Tongue Mold.

[Serves six.]

1 tablespoon plain gelatin
¾ cup cold water
1 cup hot water
2 tablespoons vinegar
½ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
¼ cup chopped pickles
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons minced onion
2 cups chopped or diced cooked tongue

Soften gelatin in cold water. Dissolve in hot water. Chill until slightly thickened and fold in mayonnaise with vinegar and mustard. Add other ingredients and chill until firm. Unmold on greens and serve without any more dressing.

THREE HAT FASHIONS.

With today's one simple pattern you may create three different hat styles for your autumn wardrobe. The pillbox is adorned with a bow in front, and there's a bow, too, on the jockey cap. The off-the-face beret has a button trim. Use the fabric of your ensemble or select a woolen crêpe, or velvet to harmonize with your costumes.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

Like every other good thing in bridge, "trapping" can be carried to excess. There are times when a player's holding in the opponents' suit is too strong!

East, in the hand shown below, thought he was "trapping," but found at the end that he himself had fallen into a net.

Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 diamond	Pass	2 hearts
Pass	2 no trump	Pass	6 hearts
Pass	Pass	Double	Pass
Pass	Pass

Lest it be thought that I approve every one's bidding except East's, I hasten to state that South's jump take-out and later leap to six hearts were nothing but sheer "stabs." Admittedly South had a hard hand to bid; its extreme freakiness demanded a slam bidding device, such as asking bids, to investigate North's club holding, the danger spot. But North-South were not using artificial bids and, thus, South, feeling that he never could find out the precise honor makeup of North's diamond bid, determined to gamble. If it happened that there were two club tricks off the hand, perhaps a fortunate opening lead would save him. That is exactly what happened.

Obviously, the only lead to defeat six hearts was a club, and West did not make that good guess. Instead, he opened his singleton diamond. Declarer won with the queen, entered dummy with a trump, and led a low spade away from the king. East, fearing a singleton queen in declarer's hand, hopped up with the ace, and after that South could take the rest of the tricks, getting one discard on the established spade king and one on a high diamond.

When North opened the bidding with one diamond, East should have realized that there was virtually no chance that the opponents would end up in a diamond contract. Hence, he should have taken the opportunity to enter the bidding at the one level. His best action was to bid one spade. He could not double because there was entirely too much chance that his partner would bid hearts. Had East bid the spade, West never would have permitted South to buy the contract, even if it were necessary to go to six spades, presumably defensively. The remarkable part, however, was that six spades would have been a laydown by virtue of the correct spade finesse [leading the queen, not a low spade, thru North], and a correct guess for the club queen.

The Teen Age Child Enjoys Adult Books

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.

Today I want to make some suggestions which may be of use to parents who want either to encourage their children to read, or to help them find good books they will enjoy and which also are good reading, for those two latter things can go hand in hand. Young people can find quite as much excitement, romance, adventure, melodrama, and thrills in good literature as in the trivial or trashy variety. And so, while pleasure is being experienced, their taste is being formed.

Another fact worth pointing out is that the reading of teen age children does not have to be confined to what are classed as "juveniles." These young people will read books especially written for their age, but they also will enjoy adult literature, both novels and nonfiction. There is no reason why such reading should be forbidden them. It is a maturing and widening experience. And after all, what author or editor of juveniles is in a position to say that all children at a certain age are equal in intelligence, sensitiveness, vocabulary, or life experience, and so should be expected to read the same sort of thing?

There are a number of novels which deal with many phases of life in this country today. There are novels with historical backgrounds — fascinating ones of the distant and also not so distant past. For young people who may have a special interest such as science, nature, music, art, aviation, and so forth, there are books in these fields. Also there is a great deal of biography concerning outstanding figures in each of those arts or sciences. Adventure books and murder mysteries and detective stories are to be had from the pens of really good writers, and should not be taboo because parents are struggling too hard for high standards. And poetry, classic and very modern, is available in slim volumes or anthologies.

Baseball Fans--- Don't Delay That Letter to Sally

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

When the Chicago White Sox face the Boston Red Sox at Comiskey park on Aug. 21, 100 boys and girls will be cheering in the stands.

If you'd like to be one of that happy group you still have time to try for an invitation. I haven't selected my guests for our baseball party as yet, and I'm looking for some real Sox fans. We'll have room for 50 boys and 50 girls—so if you'd like very, very much to come, sit down and write a letter to me.

I want boys and girls to whom this party would be an exciting treat, who prefer baseball to any other kind of sport, and judging from the mail which has already come in there are plenty of boys and girls who fit that description.

If you're to be a winner, you must tell me why you think you'd enjoy this party, so that I can judge whether you're really interested enough to deserve an invitation. You must also remember that there are three additional bits of information you must supply. They are: Your full name [not just Mary or Jack]—your address and your age. If you omit any one of those items, your letter can't be a winner. Each child must write for his or her own invitation.

Better not wait too long before you do write tho, because Thursday is the deadline, and the winners will be selected that morning. Send your letter to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

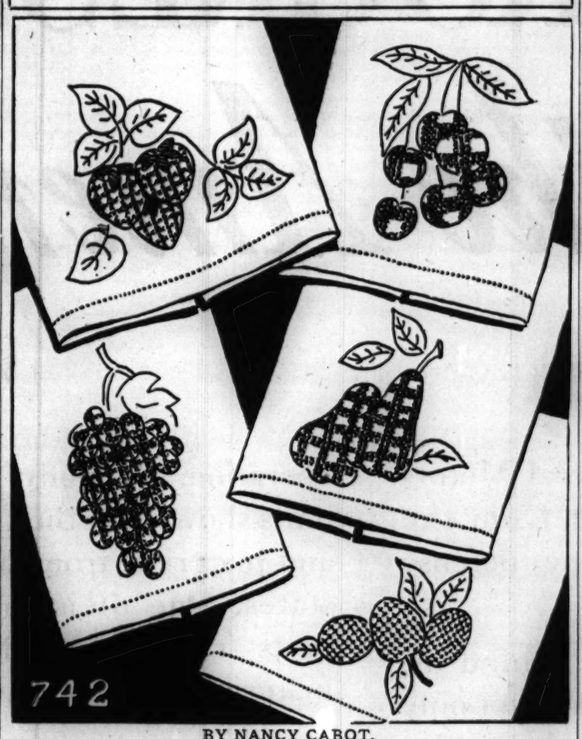
Attractive Cross-Stitch



BY NANCY CABOT.

Here is some unusual cross-stitch which gives the appearance of applique work. It is exceptionally colorful for towels, luncheon sets, or curtains, and may be attempted by the amateur. The hot iron transfer pattern includes five motifs, each measuring approximately 4 by 6 inches, together with detailed directions.

Hats and Shoes Revive Between Season Styles

BY REA SEEGER.

Sure signs of a new fall season include such telling arrivals as the first college clothes and the newest costume accessories with which to revive a fast fading summer wardrobe. For instance, hats to wear with dark street dresses, hats to accent dull crepe now and later to top a thin wool dress or a combination of wool crepe and velvet. Dashing new affairs most modestly priced are made of dressmaker felt laced around the beret type brim with contrasting color velvet or a woolly felt ribbon band. They're called mad caps, but they are not as flippant as the name would hint.

They come in all black, in brown with beige, black with kelly green or red, and a knockout reviver for any one's money of kelly green laced with vivid red. You can put them on and pull and dip them to best dramatize your own head and face line. They are extremely light in weight and have unlimited chic. One of these mad caps and a tiny feathered creation that looks like a crown of color as an alternate, and you have head line relief for any wilted wardrobe without spending too much of your clothes allowance.

Have you seen the new suede sandals that dazzle the eyes with designs worked in metal nailheads. They're new and different, provide a fillip for otherwise dark and dull dresses of either silk or wool, and will also shine later on with models in velvet, velveteen, or taffeta. Gray, green, black, and wine red offer a slick color range from which to choose, and the nailhead trim allows another selection in gunmetal, gold, or silver. The designs are decoratively placed on the toe and instep bands.

Other new suedes have a wide ankle band and over the instep and toe. Cinnamon browns, a few blond beige shades, handsome dark greens and the all purpose sooty blacks comprise the color selection.

She's Being Different.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a girl who doesn't love me. I am not bad looking, in fact, many other girls fall for me. I can't understand why she doesn't. WILBUR W."

Maybe she feels your other conquests have been so easy that she is going to be "different." Show her by your persistence that you think she is.

Time for Diplomacy.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have been going with a boy for a long time, but he has stopped coming to see me for weeks at a time. I haven't seen him now for three weeks. What should I do when he does come to see me? TRIXIE."

Treat him nicely, but don't give him the idea that you're heartbroken because he hasn't "dated" you.

THE STAGE

Cornelia Otis Skinner in "Theatre," by Somerset Maugham and Guy Bolton, will open at an undetermined theater on Sept. 29. The play, produced by John Golden, is being brought here before its New York engagement, as a part of Mr. Golden's plan to reëstablish Chicago as a producing center.

Mr. Golden also announces that he has selected the heroine for the Chicago company of Rose Franklin's "Claudia," opening at the Selwyn theater on Sept. 15. The title rôle will be played by Phyllis Thaxter, who toured last season with the Lunts' company of "There Shall Be No Night" as understudy to Elisabeth Fraser. Miss Thaxter was selected because of the enthusiasm Lynn Fontanne, Miss Franken, and Mr. Golden all felt for her work at a single matinée performance in New York recently.

The opening date for the musical comedy, "Louisiana Purchase," at the Erlanger theater, will be Oct. 13. The four original stars, Vera Zorina, Irene Bordoni, Victor Moore, and William Gaxton, all remain with the company on tour.

Kiss Collector Usually Misses True Romance

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.

Collecting kisses may be an amusing pastime. Lots of boys feel very clever, as devastating as any hero on the screen, if they succeed in necking with girls the first time they take them out. If they are nice looking and personable, they many manage to stack up quite a quota of kisses from dark girls, blondes, redheads, tiny girls and tall girls.

But, unless a boy earns his kisses, he always will be pretty much of a dud at lovemaking. He will never know how to make friends with a girl. He will never learn how to please a woman. He will never acquire the art of inspiring real love.

If these amateur lovers are not careful, they will become the grabbers, the maulers, the pawers, the bunglers in love. They are likely to turn into the husbands whose wives are not very responsive. Almost always they will have to accept a cheaper grade of love, and inferior women. They will have difficulty in keeping a sweetheart if a more adept and sympathetic man comes along.

Because they kiss first, they never learn the prelude necessary to a grand passion. If a girl is inexperienced in handling men, or afraid of not being asked out again; if she is weak-willed and foolish, or merely experimenting herself, she may permit petting. But the boy will get lip service rather than real feeling. The kisses will be mechanical, a mere imitation, and a poor imitation, of the real thing.

In any case, his technique suffers.

Be Mentally Alive and So Defeat Age

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.

It is foolish for women to dread age these days. Health experts, doctors and dietitians have pushed the prime of life to a much later date. Now comes the pleasant news that science has discovered that our minds don't grow old.

With careful tests, the scientists have measured and compared the learning power of people at different ages. Their findings are heartening. The man or women of 40, 50, 60, and even 80, may take more time to learn a new skill or gain more knowledge, but his mental power of learning is just as good as a young person's.

Perhaps we let old age creep upon us because we take for granted that we are too old to learn something new. We have the brain power and we don't use it.

The woman who is fretting over her fading charms and fighting a double chin should take up a new hobby, learn a new skill, study a new subject. The chances are that her mental activity will involve physical activity, too. Because she has let her brain be dormant, she has slumped physically as well.

Taking up something new will make her physically more active, whether it is dancing, landscape painting, geology or gardening, music or handicraft. Fresh interests and enthusiasms won't give her the time to grow fat and old.

"TO NEGLECT DEFENSE IS TO INVITE DISASTER"

PROGRESS REPORT to the American People

IN midsummer of 1940, General Motors received its first contract from the Government under the emergency defense program.

Now, with months of effort behind us, progress can be reported in terms not only of facilities at work, but also of actual deliveries being made.

Every manufacturing division of General Motors is now engaged in supplying one or more defense materials.

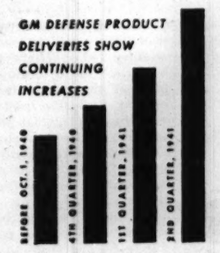
For defense production fourteen completely new plants have been erected, or are in the process of being completed. Thirteen plant enlargements have been made. In twenty-six instances existing buildings have been re-equipped with machinery.

To train men in the special skills of defense, training courses have been under way since the beginning of the program; in one division alone, 4,500 men have been trained or are now in training.

All-important lines of supply to coordinate varied and scattered production facilities have been set up and put into operation. A study of eleven operating units shows that they are now buying parts and materials from 200 communities in 21 states. One division alone gets defense parts from 83 outside suppliers and raw materials from 37 others.



GM DEFENSE PRODUCT DELIVERIES SHOW CONTINUING INCREASES
BEFORE OCT. 1, 1940
4TH QUARTER, 1940
1ST QUARTER, 1941
2ND QUARTER, 1941

A picture of how volume is beginning to rise is seen in the fact that, whereas General Motors produced $78,000,000 worth of defense goods up to the end of 1940 (including work completed for the army and navy prior to defense program contracts) it has produced more than $130,000,000 worth during the first half of 1941.

What kinds of goods are included in this production?

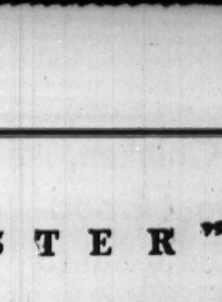
CASE HISTORIES OF ACCOMPLISHMENT

Many facts about GM defense work, such as quantities produced and even types of work handled, come under the heading of military secrets. However, these case histories of two divisions working on defense goods give an indication of the progress being made.

MACHINE GUN CONTRACT. Contract announced September, 1940. Construction of new plant begun October 15, 1940. First machinery installed March 15, 1941. First gun produced (by hand) March 27, 1941. Guns are now being delivered in quantities.

AIRPLANE ENGINE CONTRACT. Initial order for liquid-cooled engines placed June, 1939. Ground broken for new plant in pear orchard and cornfield June, 1939. First delivery from this plant in May, 1940. First emergency defense order placed in July, 1940, and further plant expansion begun immediately. Engines now being shipped as fast as they can be used.

The list is long and varied. Among the products now being delivered by General Motors divisions are the following:



Airplane engines and parts . . . Engines for submarines and auxiliary naval craft . . . Military trucks of various specialized types . . . 30 and 50 calibre Browning machine guns . . . 75 and 105 mm. artillery shells . . . Fuzes . . . Cartridge cases . . . Naval gun housings . . . Gun mounts for tanks . . . Control equipment for anti-aircraft guns . . . Bearings, spark plugs and electrical equipment for tank, truck and airplane use . . . A wide variety of specialized equipment including starter motors, dynamometers, control instrument motors, electrical control boxes, etc.

In addition to these things, now in regular production, numerous other important items such as air-cooled aircraft engines, bomber parts and subassemblies, rapid fire cannon, naval ordnance and the like are in the "pilot line" stage or approaching production within the next few weeks.

Not all problems are solved, not all difficulties surmounted, but the job is nevertheless under way — well under way — and each week more and more General Motors built equipment swells the total of America's vast defense production.

SOX AND BROWNS BREAK EVEN; PLAYERS FIGHT

ALL-STARS STRESS OFFENSE IN DRILLS FOR BEARS

COACHES SIFT SQUAD TO PICK OUT SPECIALISTS

Count on Speed of Standlee, Franck.

Musicians!

COLLEGE musicians and former members of the All-Star band residing in the Chicago district are invited to participate in the ceremony between halves of the College All-Americans-Chicago Bears game in Soldiers' field on Aug. 28. Musicians should write to G. Cliffe Bainum, band director, Fisk hall, Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The All-Stars' double drills in Dyche stadium yesterday accented development of their attack for the battle with the Chicago Bears in Soldiers' field Aug. 28.

The primary concern of Head Coach Carl Snavely and his aids still is the famed T formation of the Bears just as the question constantly in the minds of thousands of football fans involves the All-Stars' ability to check an attack that humiliated the Washington Redskins, 73 to 0.

You'll hear a lot about that 73 to 0 game. Coach Snavely saw it and he admittedly has definite ideas on how he proposes to stop the parade of Bears' runners. But yesterday, despite the threat of the Bears' attack which hangs over the All-Stars like Damocles' sword, the squad began assembling the component parts of its own attack.

They Must Score, Too.

"Even if the boys should make a fairly respectable defensive showing against the Bears, they still won't make headlines unless they can get a few points," Snavely explained.

Despite yesterday's heat the All-Stars went thru two brisk drills. After a squad meeting in the morning, the boys worked until 11 o'clock. Lunch was served at 11:45 a. m. and they then rested until 2:30 when they started for Dyche stadium. The afternoon drill was called for a half hour later.

The All-Star coaches have several plans they wish to keep secret from the Bears. Since the collegians are playing a Chicago professional eleven, they anticipate a divided allegiance. In recent years, when Washington or the New York Giants were the opponents of the All-Stars, Chicago fans were at least neutral. Now a great number of the record crowd of 93,000 undoubtedly will be cheering for the professional champions.

This situation calls for secrecy in preparation of defensive formations. The curtain also will be drawn as best it can about all scrimmages. But in any consideration of the system of attack there must be some fundamental maneuvers George Halas and his coaching staff easily can guess.

Mr. Halas Has Eye on Standlee.

So in speaking of the skill of the group of All-Star full backs, and the agility of the guards, Halas is not receiving any inside information. As a matter of fact one of the best of the full backs is Norman Standlee of Stanford. Halas thought enough of this young man's ability to speak for his services thru the professional draft system.

One of the requisites for full back play in the system of offense now being taught the All-Stars is ability to hide the ball on certain spin plays

NEW BEAR PLAYS FAIL TO WORK AS HALAS WORRIES

BY EDWARD PRELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Delafield, Wis., Aug. 11.—For the Bears' game against the College All-Stars, Owner-Coach George Halas thinks maybe he'll have to depend on those plays which rang up that cash register victory over the Washington Redskins last December for the National Football league title.

The Bears' 1940 hocus-pocus stuff reached a high point in potency in the 73 to 0 triumph over the Redskins, but Halas and his co-workers are of experimental natures. All came to camp with a flock of ideas intended to bloom into plays which will mystify the collegians the night of Aug. 28 in Soldiers' field and subsequent opponents during the league season.

Professional Gloom, Maybe.

Today some of the proposed 1941 foolers were tried and preliminary results were discouraging, altho it may have been that Halas was only registering professional gloom, as coaches have a way of doing. His aids nodded sad assents, too, and Luke Johnsos, the end coach, who never looks particularly happy, seemed on the verge of tears.

It is not believed, tho, that the Bears' strategists will junk all these fresh ideas. The players, including the veterans and newcomers, appear to be intelligent and they may be depended upon to master the 1941 appendix to the modern T formation with a man in motion offense.

For the third straight day the coaches continued working individually with the players on assignments and maneuvers. Practice on running plays, with the squad working in three successive waves, was the main theme.

Work Out in Shorts.

The Bears again wore shorts and will not be rushed into putting on their working clothes even tho mindful that the All-Stars are carting around heavy equipment. The first scrimmage is tentatively scheduled for Sunday.

At this early date the coaches are reluctant to talk about their new men. The three freshman centers, tho, Billy Hughes of Texas, David Buck of Colgate, and Al Matuza of Georgetown, have made good impressions. John Martin, 198 pound half back from the University of Oklahoma amazed even such an old time kicking genius as Back Field Coach Paddy Driscoll with an 85 yard punt, every inch in the air. He also drew favorable comment for his pass catching ability.

William Rogers, recruit guard from Villanova, has not reported. This has not disappointed the champions, who have six fellows for that position who are considered ample protection.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

ILLUSTRATIVE of the coaching philosophy of 33 year old Doug Mills, Illinois' new acting athletic director, is the following anecdote from Park Livingston, a member of the university's board of trustees: Mills' Illini basketball team was playing a Big Ten foe which persisted in rough tactics. . . . Thru it all Doug remained calm and at the end of the game Livingston inquired, "Don't you ever get mad?" . . . "Sure, I do," replied Mills, "but if my boys saw I was fuming, they'd forget how to play basketball." . . . Incidentally, Mills was quite a pitcher in his semipro days. . . . Pitching for the Elgin All-Stars in Walworth, Wis., on June 29, 1930, Doug turned in a no-hit game and struck out 22. . . . The only Walworth player to reach first base was hit by a pitched ball. . . . Those Martian looking football headgears of plastic introduced at Northwestern university last fall, have been adopted by the army for the use of parachute troops in training at Fort Benning, Ga. . . . The helmet was invented by John T. Riddell, former football coach at Evanston High school. . . . Among the National league's better golfers are Paul Derringer of the Reds, who shoots in the 70s consistently, and Gabby Hartnett and Carl Hubbell, both of the Giants. . . . Shortstop Billy Myers and Second Baseman Joe Abreu of the Milwaukee Brewers are one of the best double play combinations in the American association. . . . Myers, who is receiving a reported $12,000 annually, is the highest paid player outside the major leagues. . . .

Paul Derringer.

Doug Mills.

For no apparent reason, Saturday is coming back as a baseball day. . . . Twenty years ago it ranked second only to Sunday in attendance, then gradually the crowds dropped away until even Monday produced better turnouts. . . . Harold Rooney, who is expected to figure heavily in the University of Wisconsin's right half back plans this fall, is carrying ice this summer. . . . Sept. 7 will be Tommy Bridges day at Briggs stadium. . . . The return of Umpire Larry Goetz to duty two days after having a wrist broken by a foul tip indicates that the boys in blue can take it better than some of the players who think nothing of taking a week off with a hangnail. . . . Baseball scouts from far and near are trailing Eddie Erautt, 16 year old pitcher for an American Legion team in Portland, Ore. . . . Eddie's older brother, Joe, a catcher, was given a $6,000 bonus to sign with the Tigers two years ago and now is with the Detroit farm club at Winston-Salem. . . . Speed Boy, an 8 year old thorobred campaigning in the east, never has won a race.

Sunday in the Park.

I like to ride thru Eagle Point park
And see the people gathered there
To while the hours away;
The happy family picnic groups,
The joyous cries of the children,

Where else in the world do weiners
Ever taste as good as there?
And where's the potato salad
That with Aunt Ide's can compare?
Grandma with her home-baked beans,
Cousin Emma's lemon-cream cake,
The tables groan beneath enough

Almost every town has an Eagle Point park
To which families often hie
To gather beneath the age-old trees
How far away seem war and strife,

DYKES TO SIGN TOMORROW AS 1942 SOX BOSS

Manager Jim Dykes of the White Sox said last night that he will sign his new contract tomorrow morning. Dykes repeated earlier statements that he was at a loss to understand the apparent frenzy outside the White Sox organization to have him sign yesterday morning upon his return to Chicago after a three weeks' road trip with his team.

Said James: "The whole matter has been purely routine all along and there has been no controversy at any time. Why I should be urged by some of my friends to sign at the Englewood station Monday morning is a mystery and such haste certainly would have been inconvenient and entirely unnecessary insofar as Mrs. Comiskey was concerned. If Mrs. Comiskey is not otherwise engaged I probably will drop in her office Wednesday morning and go thru the fountain pen routine. But if I don't there will be no cause for outsiders to become hysterical. We'll get around to it in plenty of time to start next season right."

For days and days the White Sox have been looking forward to a return to the cool shores of Lake Michigan. It was 98 degrees in the shade by the Comiskey park thermometer when the big fight took place,

Bill Dietrich and Bob Harris will be the opposing pitchers in this afternoon's match between the White Sox and the Browns. Dietrich and Harris hooked up in St. Louis last Friday. Neither finished, but the Sox won, 16 to 2, the Browns making only four hits off Dietrich in seven innings and none off Johnny Humphries in two sessions.

CUBS' 3 HOMERS FAIL TO HELP; CARDS WIN, 7-5

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 11.—The Cubs worked themselves up to the point of clouting three home runs in a row today but, as usual, the heroic feat meant nothing. The Chicagoans were behind when the homers went sailing off with the wind and they were still behind after mingling for nine innings with the Cardinals, whose idea was to remain a few points back of the pacemaking Dodgers. The score was 7 to 5 and for those who don't keep up on their statistics it may be pointed out that the Chicago lads now have been thumped 10 times in their last 12 appearances.

Cubs Get Those Three Homers.

A new batting arrangement, quite different from all previous experiments, was put into use, but it failed to function either on defense or offense. The defensive feature probably was the most helpful, at least for the Cardinals, altho not for Larry French. The second base combination which for the day included Johnny Hudson at the keystone sack enjoyed a nap in the second inning and didn't awaken until St. Louis had recorded four runs which meant the decision and French's 13th defeat.

All the Cubs could do for four innings against Lon Warneke was three hits for one run, but in the next session the home run splurge was turned loose. Phil Cavarretta notched his third of the year for two runs, Stan Hack his fifth, and Bill Nicholson his 21st. The latter finished Warneke and brought in Harry Gumbert, the ex-Giant who not only received credit for his seventh victory, but accomplished it in most impressive style. He didn't permit a Cub hit in four and two-thirds innings, the feat including ninth inning strike outs of Charley George, Hank Leiber, who swung for rescuer Jake Mooty, and Hudson.

Marion Doubles Brown Home.

After a pass and single by Dahlgren had accumulated a one run lead in the second, the Cubs apparently figured they had done enough for the time being. They proceeded to neglect French shamefully in the home half when four Cards scored. Johnny Mize singled cleanly to right. Coaker Triplett's grounder slipped off Bob Sturgeon's glove, but no one appeared to want to chase it so it went for a double. Jimmy Brown bounced an easy single thru Hudson to score the two men. Martin Marion's bouncer went past Hudson for another double to short center and Brown went to third. French then walked Mancuso, but got Warneke on strikes. A walk to Frank Crespi forced Brown

UMPIRES BANISH AUKER, STRANGE AND JOE KUHEL

Chicago Wins, 14-9, Then Loses, 10-3.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

A fist fight between First Baseman Joe Kuhel of the White Sox and Pitcher Elden Auker of the St. Louis Browns precipitated a riotous scene in Comiskey park yesterday in the seventh inning of the first game of a double header, which the Sox later won, 14 to 9, for their seventh straight and their ninth in 10 games.

The Sox, higher strung than the last placers, apparently became nervous wrecks as they discussed the embroglio in the clubhouse between games, for they blew the second contest in piteous fashion, 10 to 3, the Browns making eight runs in the first two innings. They hit safely in every inning for a total of 17 hits. Thus the Browns, with two victories, are the only team that has whipped the Sox in 11 matches.

Everybody Joins in Fight.

The big fight started immediately after Auker had hit Kuhel with a pitched ball and in a few seconds the mêlée had been joined by all players on both teams, the umpires, police, and ushers.

Auker, who had been harassed by miserable support during the first six innings of the game, still was angry when his team went ahead, 8 to 6, in a five run seventh inning. After Don Kolloway had led off the home seventh with a single, Auker, who previously had dusted off Kuhel on six pitches, hit Kuhel. Before Joe reached first he was met by Auker and fists started to fly. The mob gathered instantly as Kuhel and Auker continued to throw punches.

The riot started to spread when Manager Dykes perceived Alan Strange, Brownie bench habitue, try to land a haymaker on Kuhel from behind. Skipper Jim slammed Strange to the ground, then pinned him to the turf.

Sox Players Restrain Lyons.

In the meantime Eddie Smith and Coach Mule Haas were tearing the shirt off Auker in an attempt to break up the battle between the two original belligerents and Mike Kreevich sat on Catcher Bob Swift to keep him from swinging his mask. Among the Sox most ready to land a sock wherever needed was Ted Lyons, but other Sox, desiring to keep the popular veteran out of trouble, promptly devoted their efforts to restraining him from busting some one.

Eventually the peacemakers, under the direction of Police Lieutenant William McCarthy, restored order. The umpires banished Kuhel, Auker, and Strange for the day. The Sox promptly tied the score in the seventh and breezed to victory with a six run eighth inning.

Appling Bats In Five Runs.

The Sox made 14 hits in the first game. Luke Appling distinguished himself by batting in 5 runs as compared with 28 runs batted in in 108 previous contests this season.

Tho Rigney showed in the first inning he was no better than in his losses in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, and St. Louis during the recent otherwise triumphant trip, he went into the seventh leading, 6 to 3, thanks to poor fielding by Joe Grace, a little sound hitting against Auker and some great catches off the walls by Hoag and Kreevich.

In the seventh Heffner led off with his second double. Clift singled, then McQuinn bashed his 15th homer to tie the score. Judnich followed with a double and Rigney was led away.

Hallett went in for Chicago and retired two batsmen, walked Berardino and then pitched a double to

UNCLE SAM CONTRIBUTES TO ALL-STARS' POWER—IT TAKES MORE THAN HEAT TO SLOW COLLEGIANS

Jockey Suspended After Homewood Race.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Tom Taggart's Yale o' Nine is in winning form again. Trainer Howard Wells found the right combination of weight, distance, and track conditions yesterday and sent the French Lick stable's color bearer out to score in the Lexington claiming handicap over a mile route at Washington Park.

Under a well judged, but rather rough ride by Arthur Craig, Yale o' Nine got home a length and a quarter in advance of Three Bangs, the latter being half a length ahead of Waugh Pop.

Craig, who was piloting his third winner of the afternoon, brought down a five day suspension on his head by being the key man in a bit of crowding on the turn. Yale o' Nine, racing on the outside, failed to give Maisco enough room. Maisco in turn was forced to go over toward the rail, crowding back Waugh Pop.

Profits by Weight Changes.

Yale o' Nine, Maisco and The Fop all were quoted at three to one, while Waugh Pop was at 7 to 2. Waugh Pop had beaten Yale o' Nine in their last previous meeting but a shift of weights favored the French Lick horse in yesterday's encounter. He was dropping five pounds and Waugh Pop was picking up six. The winner's prices were $8.80, $5.80 and $3.60.

Yale o' Nine, breaking from the outside post position, forged ahead as they came out of the chute with Maisco forcing the pace and Waugh Pop close up. The three were running side by side as they went into the turn out of the backstretch. Here was where the crowding occurred which forced Lee Haskell to take Waugh Pop back.

While Yale o' Nine was opening up a two length lead over Maisco on the swing around the turn, Waugh Pop was making a strong bid to get back into a contending position. He did so soon after the stretch run began but he was a tired horse the rest of the way home. Meanwhile Yale o' Nine was continuing well and Three Bangs was coming up on the outside to take second place away from Waugh Pop.

Can't Lose Wins Again.

The consistent youngster, Can't Lose, which had scored four firsts and a third in his six previous efforts, came thru again yesterday at odds of 6 to 5. He beat a field of good 2 year olds in a wide open betting race in which six of the seven starters were conceded moderately good chances to win.

Soon after the field got away, however, the favorite showed his rivals that they were just wasting their time. Jockey Arthur Craig sent Can't Lose into a lead of three lengths during the sprint for the first turn and he kept him in full command all the rest of the way home. Meanwhile Little Red Fox was making the strongest early challenge. He held on until the last furlong, then gave way to Sis Baker, who came up steadily in the stretch to finish second, two lengths behind Can't Lose. Little Red Fox saved third place.

Depot Blues.

The puffing engine sighs a loud refrain,
Then kisses, shouts, embraces, firm handshakes,
The hubbub passes—now an empty train.

And what a lonely and unfriendly place . . .

All-Star Game to Be Reunion for Collegians

The All-Star game will be a reunion for a number of the collegians whose paths separated following high school graduation. Ed Rucinski, Indiana end, and Joe Lokanc, Northwestern guard, were teammates thru grade and Roosevelt High school in East Chicago. Tom Harmon of Michigan and Tommy O'Boyle of Tulane attended Holy Angels and Horace Mann High school in Gary.

Jack Williamson and Bob Peterson, major domos of Northwestern's equipment room, thought they were set for any and all emergencies until Fred Hartman, giant tackle from Rice, walked in and asked for a pair of size 13½ shoes. The boys finally came up with a pair which they said hadn't been worn since Dal Marvil played tackle for the Wildcats back in 1931.

Ade Schumacher, Northwestern's intramural director, has organized a staff of Wildcat athletes to help keep things running smoothly in the All-Star camp. Rut Walter, assistant track coach, is house manager for the eighth straight year. Chet Gargas, assistant intramural director, is in charge of transportation and his aids include Ike Kepford, Otto Graham, Tony Samarzia, Alex Sarkisian, and Bob Wallis, all football players.

Sideline observers at Dyche stadium were surprised at the heftiness of Paul Christman, Missouri's great forward passer, who weighs 200 pounds and stands 6 feet 1 inch.

Marion Asa, 190 pound guard from Bradley Tech, is one of the "Little All-Americans" determined to earn recognition in the All-Star game. As soon as he was elected to the squad he began working out daily and reported in the peak of condition. Altho he had several offers to play pro football, Asa has turned them down to accept a two year all-expense fellowship in engineering at Iowa.

Players Riot as White Sox, Browns Split

Swift, Judnich and Berardino scoring. The Browns were leading, 8 to 6, and at that juncture Rigney stood to lose his fifth straight, his second in a week to Auker.

Then Comes the Battle.

At the start of the home seventh Auker was still sizzling over further clownish work by Grace in right field which had given the Sox two runs in the sixth. His temper wasn't improved when Kolloway opened the seventh with a single. Auker had been dusting off Kuhel all afternoon and this time he got him between the shoulder blades. Then came the fight. After it was all over and police had led Auker away, with Kuhel retiring without convoy, Webb went to first to run for Kuhel and Trotter succeeded Auker. Kolloway and Webb got home to tie the score, both driven in by Appling.

In the eighth the Sox ran riot against Trotter and Newlin, making six runs. In the course of the romp Appling drove in two more runs to bring his total for the game to five and his total for the season to 33.

SECOND GAME

No one saw Buck Ross get hit in the head or have his right arm wrenched in the first game brawl, but something like that must have happened to this young man who as late as last Thursday night beat the Browns, 11 to 1, robbed of a shutout by a ninth inning homer. The Browns got after Buck yesterday for four runs in a session which featured a triple by Clift and a homer by Judnich, the same gent who spoiled his shutout Thursday night.

After the Sox had scored a run in their first inning Buck retired the first two batsmen in the Brownie second. Then he made an error on an easy grounder. The Browns were off for another four run inning and Buck was off for the bathhouse. Joe Haynes replaced Ross and was a little better than Buck.

Brown walked and Marion doubled him home in the third, French's last inning. In the next Moore hoisted his sixth homer of the year into the left center field seats to make it 6 to 1. Then the Cubs burst forth unexpectedly. In the fifth Hudson singled and Cavarretta hit a homer over the right field lean-to. Hack followed suit except that he hit the roof. Nicholson sent the first pitch over the roof and away went the perspiring Warneke.

The 6 to 5 score was adjusted by Estel Crabtree in the seventh. He came into the game as a substitute for Triplett and knocked the first ball pitched to him by Mooty into the bleachers in right center.

WILDER-STUPPLE TWOSOME WINS IN PRO-LADIES GOLF

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Virginia Ingram of Sunset Ridge and Mary Wilder of Skokie are still carrying on the rivalry begun a few weeks ago, when they met in the final match for the Chicago Women's District Golf association championship, a battle won by Virginia.

Yesterday, with the aid of her home professional, Bob Stupple, it was Mary's turn. She and Bob won the eighth annual pro-ladies event, conducted by the CWDGA and the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' association.

Card Matching Breaks Tie.

The Wilder-Stupple combination finished with a gross record of 79 for the 18 hole journey over the Westmoreland Country club, scene of the 1938 Women's National and the 1939 Women's Western Derby. That figure was equalled by Miss Ingram and her home pro, Dave Tosh, but the committee finally decided to settle the deadlock by matching cards with the result that Mary and Bob won, 1 up.

First low net honors for the day went to Mrs. H. P. Saunders of North Shore and Johnny Moran of Fox Valley with an 83—9—74, followed by the Chicago Golf twosome of Mrs. George Henneberry and Jack Drucker with 83—7—76.

It's an Ideal Tuneup.

The event was attended by more than 40 teams and served as an ideal tuneup for both sides, since the ladies will soon be back at work in the Women's Western Amateur opening next Monday at Exmoor and the pros will battle Friday, Saturday, and Sunday in their 72 hole, $2,000 annual at the Hieland lodge course in Kankakee.

Leading low net scores:

Mrs. H. P. Saunders, North Shore, and John Moran, Fox Valley	83	9	74
Mrs. Mary Wilder and Bob Stupple, Skokie	79	3	76
Mrs. Geo. Henneberry and Jack Drucker, Chicago Gold	83	7	76
Mrs. J. F. Buckridge and Willis Foland, North Shore	83	6	77
Mrs. Helen Thompson and Bill Brown, Aurora	86	9	77
Sam Bernardi, Old Elm	84	6	78
Mrs. E. B. Hall and Tommy Armour, Medinah	82	3	79
Mrs. A. G. Hurst, Longwood, and Jack White, Green Diamond Driving Range	87	8	79
Mrs. Carter Thomsen and Art Toepke, Itasca	87	8	79

SLAUGHTER LOST TO CARDS DUE TO BROKEN BONE

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 11 (AP).—Enos Slaughter, St. Louis Cardinal outfielder, has a broken left clavicle and will be out for the rest of the season.

Slaughter ran into a wall in the second inning of the second game with Pittsburgh yesterday as he and Terry Moore both tried for a long fly which Moore nabbed. He bounced back from the wall and fell on his left shoulder.

Mamakos and Colan Finish Work in Gym

Mamakos confined himself to eight rounds on the floor in Trafton's place yesterday. After a shower he scaled only 158 pounds. For that reason he will take a rest today. Then he'll try to snap Colan's streak of 26 consecutive victories.

Pete Lello, 1936 Chicagoland Golden Gloves lightweight champion, will meet Lenny [Boom Boom] Mancini of Youngstown, O., in a 10 round semi-windup tomorrow. Pete showed to good advantage in his final workout yesterday.

Lello is confident as the result of sparring sessions he had with Mancini in Stillman's gymnasium in New York a year ago. Pete weighed only 132 last night, 8 less than the agreed poundage.

M. L. ROTHSCHILD ESTATE PLACED AT $10,000,000

Inventory Is Filed in Lake County Court.

An estate of $10,000,000 or more was left by the late Maurice L. Rothschild, pioneer State street merchant who died April 23, it was shown yesterday when attorneys filed an inventory of the estate before Probate Judge Martin C. Decker in Lake county.

Executors estimated the value of the estate nominally at $3,000,000 when the will was filed with the court last May.

The will leaves half of the estate to Mr. Rothschild's widow, Mrs. Hulda B. Rothschild, and places the other half in trust to meet numerous charitable and other bequests. Mrs. Rothschild was allowed an immediate widow's award of $100,000.

$9,930,000 in Stocks, Bonds.

Executors yesterday said that the value of the estate would exceed $8,000,000. Major stocks and bonds listed in the inventory, however, have a minimum value of $6,454,025, which the executors admitted was less than the present market value.

The executors did not estimate the value of 37,598 shares of Maurice L. Rothschild Investment corporation and Maurice L. Rothschild, Inc., stock, which is not listed on the exchange.

Attorneys for the estate told Judge Decker, however, that the Rothschild stock represented about 35 per cent of the estate's total value. On this basis the estate would have a value of $9,930,000 without taking into account minor items among the 48 holdings of corporate stock listed in the inventory.

817 shares A. T. & T.	$ 125,205
600 shares Anaconda Copper	16,575
2,168 shares Cluett, Peabody & Co.	114,048
1,368 shares First Natl. Bk. Chgo.	362,520
2,251 shares Gen. Amer. Transp.	113,113
4,000 shares General Electric	126,000
904 shares Inland Steel	72,094
3,301 shares Sears, Roebuck & Co.	231,070
	$1,160,625

The inventory lists the following bonds:

Municipal	$4,540,000
United States government	644,000
Joint Stock Land bank	110,000
	$5,294,000

These bonds, the executors said, have been quoted recently at substantial premiums over the par values represented in the inventory.

Stores in Three Cities.

The Rothschild corporations own and operate, directly or thru subsidiaries, the State street store and similar stores in Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn.

Since the death of Mr. Rothschild, David Mayer Jr. has succeeded him as president of Maurice L. Rothschild, Inc. Mr. Mayer, Ben Rimskie, vice president and treasurer, and Thomas H. Beacom Jr., a vice president of the First National bank, were elected directors.

PLANS TO TEST BLOOD OF ALL KILLED IN CARS

Dr. William D. McNally announced yesterday when he was sworn in as coroner's toxicologist by Coroner A. L. Brodie that he will institute the policy of examining the blood of all motorists killed in accidents. He said the tests are intended to determine whether the driver had been affected by carbon monoxide while at the wheel, or whether he had been intoxicated. Dr. McNally said some medical quarters believe that 10 per cent of all traffic fatalities are caused by drivers falling asleep when unknowingly affected by monoxide. Dr. McNally, who was coroner's chemist and toxicologist from 1913 to 1929, succeeds Dr. Clarence W. Muehlberger, who resigned to become Michigan state toxicologist.

Income from $25,000 Snow Estate Will Go to Widow

Income from the estimated $25,000 estate of Bernard W. Snow, former chairman of the Cook county Republican central committee, will go to his widow, Elizabeth, of 6700 Crandon avenue, under terms of his will, which was admitted to probate yesterday. After her death the estate will go to a daughter, Mrs. Teresa Michaels, of Libertyville. Snow, an agricultural expert, died Aug. 2 at the age of 76.

Two Get Terms in Jail for Driving While Drunk

Two motorists, arrested when police found them weaving thru traffic, were sentenced to jail by Judge Francis Borrelli in Safety court yesterday on charges of driving while intoxicated. The drivers and their sentences were: George Norrbin, 38 years old, 1519 Hollywood avenue, 10 days and a $5 fine; and Deboise Moorhead, colored, 29, of 659 East 50th street, 30 days.

$80,000,000 OIL PIPE LINE TO BE CONSTRUCTED

World's Longest; 11 Firms Finance It.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11 (AP).—Plans for the longest pipe line in the world, to pump crude oil 1,820 miles from Texas and Louisiana to the New York-Philadelphia area at the rate of 250,000 barrels a day, were announced today by Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes on behalf of 11 large oil companies.

An immediate start is planned on the $80,000,000 project but its completion will take nine months and Ickes warned that it would not solve the immediate petroleum shortage in the east caused by the diversion of 50 United States tankers to British uses.

At the same time Ickes warned that there still was serious danger of a coal shortage because of limited transportation facilities. The transportation situation already was "tight," he said, and a shortage would develop if fall seasonal demand disarranged it.

Built by New Company.

The pipe line system will be built by a corporation to be organized and owned by the participating companies jointly, to be known as National Defense Pipelines, Inc., along with a smaller corporation named Emergency Pipelines, Inc.

National Defense Pipelines will construct a 22 inch line from west of Shreveport, La., to near Salem, Ill., a distance of 490 miles; a 24 inch line from Salem to New York harbor, 1,200 miles; and a 65 mile line connecting Salem with Wood River, Ill., where it will tap existing facilities carrying oil from the Oklahoma-Kansas-Texas-Midcontinent and Illinois areas.

Link to East Texas.

Emergency Pipelines will construct a 65 mile, 22 inch line from east Texas fields to near Shreveport, where it will connect with the line of National Defense Pipelines.

President Roosevelt is expected to proclaim the line necessary for national preparedness and grant the corporations authority to exercise the right of eminent domain in accordance with new legislation.

National Defense Pipelines would finance itself without cost to the government by borrowing 80 per cent of the cost of lines and facilities by private placement of notes maturing over a five year period. The balance would be made up thru issuance of junior securities or capital stock to be purchased by the participating companies on a percentage basis. Emergency Pipelines would be financed in the same way.

Participating Companies.

The participating companies are:

Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, Consolidated Oil corporation, Sun Oil company, Atlantic Refining company, Cities Service company, Socony-Vacuum Oil company, Tidewater Associated Oil company, Texas corporation, Shell Oil company, Gulf Oil corporation, and the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company.

"The companies which have formulated this plan already have made considerable progress toward getting this vitally necessary project under way with a minimum of delay," Ickes said.

MERGER PLEA DENIED

A joint petition of Pure Transportation company and Wabash Pipe Line company for permission to merge was denied yesterday by the Illinois Commerce commission. Pure Transportation proposed to take over all assets and obligations of Wabash Pipe Line. Both companies are subsidiaries of Pure Oil company. The commission said it would lose sole jurisdiction over Wabash Pipe Line if the consolidation were permitted.

Gasoline 'Curfew' Brings Big Sales Increase Thruout East!

New York, Aug. 11 [Special].—Official reports today by the major oil companies to Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, federal petroleum coördinator, showed that gasoline sales in the first week of the 7 to 7 curfew went up—not down. Increases in bulk sales to filling stations and garages ranged from "slightly up" to 17 per cent.

The figures on the first full week of the curfew plan had been awaited as the basis for judgment on whether that plan was succeeding in reducing gasoline consumption in the east.

Rationing Believed Certain.

The report sent to Ickes also showed the actual number of gallons distributed. Ickes has asserted frequently that unless consumption was drastically cut—perhaps as much as one-third—stronger methods would have to be resorted to.

Spokesmen for the oil industry are not inclined to interpret the big jumps in gasoline sales as solely an indication of the perversity of the American car driver.

"The increase in sales is not the result of pure pleasure driving," said one official. "Much of the volume is due to the nation's armament efforts. Thousands of workmen are traveling long distances by automobile to their jobs. I know of one army establishment about 70 miles from Boston that pulls workers all the way from Boston every day."

Height of Vacation Season.

This spokesman pointed out that many motorists last week not only filled their gasoline tanks but also purchased additional supplies in cans.

An official of another company explained that the curfew plan had come at the height of the vacation season when automobiles are called on to transport millions of persons to resort centers.

"It is to be expected," he continued, "that gasoline sales will duplicate the stories of other lines of business."

Despite the general belief in the oil industry that nothing short of rationing will solve the problem, the Automobile Club of New York and affiliated organizations will launch a campaign in 30 cities of the state Wednesday to achieve reduced consumption by voluntary methods.

As a prelude to the campaign the distribution of 200,000 windshield stickers, reading "I Don't Waste Gas" was started today.

Bid on 16 Tankers

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11 (AP).—In a move to increase the nation's tonnage to transport oil, the maritime commission opened bids today for construction of 16 coastal tankers of about 1,830 tons each and a capacity of 12,800 barrels.

They will have an over-all length of 220 feet, a beam of 37 feet and a depth of 14 feet 6 inches, with single screw propulsion, direct Diesel drive. Their speed will be 10½ knots.

Among bids submitted, based on the per ship cost for a lot of six unless otherwise specified, were: Fabricated Ship corporation, Milwaukee, $1,234,500 each; fixed price; Madison Marine Ways, Madison, Ind., $894,000 each, fixed price, and $804,000 each, adjusted price; Toledo Shipbuilding company, Toledo, O., $935,000 a ship for four tankers on a fixed price basis and an adjusted price of $850,000 each.

NATION'S WHEAT CROP PLACED AT 22 YEAR RECORD

Corn Yield Per Acre May Set Peak.

American farmers are harvesting the largest wheat crop in 22 years and have prospects for the best per acre yield of corn in history, the department of agriculture reported yesterday. The government agency raised its July 1 estimates for most other crops, and indicated on the basis of Aug. 1 conditions that the United States will have a record supply of foodstuffs for next winter.

Total wheat production was estimated at 950,953,000 bushels, compared with 816,698,000 last year. The corn yield, expected to be the largest since 1937, was placed at 2,587,574,000 bushels, compared with 2,449,200,000 in 1940.

It was indicated that year's wheat production will rank as the third largest, exceeded only by a billion bushel crop in 1915 and a 952 million bushel crop in 1919.

Exceed All Except 1937.

The department said that production of all crops probably would exceed that of any other year except 1937.

The nation will go into the winter with approximately 1,346 million bushels of wheat in its warehouses. The department estimated the nation will consume 653 million bushels, or less than half of its total supplies.

Government statisticians placed winter wheat production at 684,966,000 bushels and spring wheat production, including durum wheat, at 265,987,000 bushels. Average production over the last 10 years has been 747,507,000 bushels.

Iowa, largest of the corn producing states, expects an average yield of 52 bushels to the acre and a crop of more than 474 million bushels. Illinois, No. 2 producer, has a 373,723,000 bushel crop in prospect with an expected yield of 49 bushels to the acre.

Estimates Other Crops.

	1941.	1940.
Barley	346,057,000	309,235,000
Rye	46,462,000	40,601,000
Buckwheat	5,614,000	6,350,000
Flaxseed	30,711,000	31,217,000
Rice	58,970,000	52,754,000
Beans [edible]	18,728,000	16,074,000
Peanuts	1,486,610,000	1,611,635,000
Potatoes	369,693,000	397,722,000
Apples	125,568,000	115,456,000

The large yields have swollen the ever-normal granary full to almost over-flowing and storage space is being expanded as rapidly as possible to care for the new crops. It is estimated that farmers, elevator and warehousemen will have to provide storage space for more than 6,500 million bushels of grain, or 300 millions more than last year.

GRAIN PRICES FALL

A forecast for showers and cooler weather over the main corn belt, evening up for a government crop estimate expected later in the day, and a break in cotton resulted in a lower range of grain prices yesterday.

Corn dipped more than 1 cent before meeting support and closed ¾ to ⅞ cent lower. Wheat lost 1 to 1⅛ cents and rye ¼ to ½ cent. Selling depressed rye 1⅜ to 2 cents, and soy beans were off 1½ to 1⅞ cents a bushel. Lard was affected by the action of cottonseed oil and declined 22½ cents a hundred pounds.

U. S. Gypsum Net Earnings Are Reduced

A. N. Williams reports wire profit gains.

The United States Gypsum company, Chicago manufacturer of wallboard, plaster, and other construction materials, yesterday reported slightly smaller earnings for the first six months of the year than in the corresponding 1940 period. Among corporations showing gains for the first half were the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, which reported a 50 per cent increase, and the Western Union Telegraph company, which reported earnings had approximately doubled.

United States Gypsum company's first half earnings were $3,211,826, or $2.46 a share, compared with $3,536,458, or $2.73 a share, in the corresponding period last year.

The company deducted $3,811,000 for federal and Canadian income and excess profits taxes, Sewell Avery, president, said. The estimate is based on the 1941 revenue bill recently introduced in the house.

Goodyear Net Is Larger.

The Goodyear Tire and Rubber company reported profits of $6,196,756, or $2.23 a share, in the six months ended June 30, compared with $4,142,892, or $1.23 a share, in the first half of 1940.

The tire manufacturer set aside $11,483,840 for United States and foreign income and excess profits taxes, compared with $3,086,978 in the first half of 1940.

Goodrich sales during the first half of the year totaled $152,931,046, the largest for any six month period in the company's history. Sales were $101,055,607 in the same period of 1940.

Telegraph Profits Rise.

Indicated June quarter profits of $2,147,347, or $2.05 a share, were reported by the Western Union Telegraph company, compared with $1,309,153, or $1.25 a share, last year.

For the six months, the telegraph company reported profits of $3,435,899, or $3.29 a share, compared with $1,519,625, or $1.45 a share, a year ago.

In a letter to stockholders, A. N. Williams, Western Union president, said that despite the adverse effect of war upon the company's international business, the company's business for the full year of 1941 will be the best since 1930 if improvement in domestic business continues.

Studebaker Corp. Sales Set New Record for July

Studebaker corporation's factory sales of automobiles and trucks in July were the largest on record for that month, Paul G. Hoffman, president, announced yesterday at South Bend, Ind., the company's headquarters. The month's volume was 14,633 units, compared with 1,573 sales by the factory in July, 1940. Seven month factory sales increased to 86,143 units, compared with 63,361 in the first seven months of last year.

DETERMINED

In a speech to the nations of the western hemisphere on Oct. 12, 1940, President Roosevelt said:

"The clear facts have been stated over and over again. This country wants no war with any nation. This hemisphere wants no war with any nation. The American republics are determined to work in unity for peace just as we work in unity to defend ourselves from attack.

"We arm to defend ourselves. The strongest reason for this is that it is the strongest guarantee for peace."

Ceiling Price of 12 Cents Is Set on Copper

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11 (AP).—A top price of 12 cents a pound was placed today on copper, use of which is already under government control in order to conserve supplies for armament production.

The object of the price ceiling, a statement from the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply said, was the "equalization of copper prices to all consumers." The step was deemed necessary to prevent a price spiral growing out of the estimated 350,000 ton shortage of copper in the current year. The order is effective tomorrow.

Asks Government to Buy.

To eliminate the possibility that the price ceiling may reduce the output of copper in some areas where production expenses run higher than the ceiling figure, Leon Henderson, price administrator, recommended government purchase of the entire high-cost output at prices above the 12 cent level.

This would be done thru the Metals Reserve company, a subsidiary of the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Sales to this agency, the order provided, will be exempt from the ceiling.

Henderson estimated that more than 90 per cent of the present domestic output could be produced for 12 cents a pound or less.

Ceilings by Classes.

The 12 cent maximum applies to copper of electrolytic grade, in the form of wire or ingot bars, delivered in carload lots at Connecticut valley points. A top price of 11¾ cents a pound was set for casting copper made by fire refining to a standard of 99.5 per cent pure.

EGGS RISE ½ CENT, RESULT OF BIG U. S. PURCHASES

Egg futures rose 0.45 to 0.50 cent a dozen on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday. The October contract closed with the larger gain at 29.25 cents, and the November delivery at 29.15 cents a dozen. Supporting the advance, traders said, were the announcement of government purchase Friday of 600,000 dozen shell eggs at a ¼ cent price advance.

Larger Taxes Cut United Air Lines' Profits

United Air Lines, which has its headquarters in Chicago, reported yesterday that increased taxes and operating expenses resulted in lower net income for the three months ended June 30 despite a gain in operating revenue. The corporation showed a loss for the 12 months ended that date, also in the face of larger operating revenue.

Net profit for the quarter was $451,955, equal to 30 cents a share, compared with $628,652, or 42 cents a share, in the 1940 period. Operating revenue totaled $5,047,846, against $4,480,871 a year ago. Operating expenses and taxes rose to $4,509,437, from $3,796,217 last year.

Reflects Arms Program.

W. A. Patterson, president, said steadily increasing national rearmament business was reflected in the air line's traffic figures for the three months. He said that higher operating costs showed the effect of the preparedness program, including the extra expense involved in training flying and ground personnel. Patterson disclosed that 10 planes on order or in service had been acquired by the government.

Revenue passenger miles flown during the three months totaled 71,907,376, a gain of 17.5 per cent over the 1940 quarter; mail pound miles [pounds of mail times miles flown] 1,801,889,093, a gain of 25.4 per cent; express pound miles 713,053,619, a gain of 39.1 per cent, and revenue plane miles 6,509,983, a gain of 10.2 per cent.

Costs Increase Faster.

Operating revenues were 12.7 per cent higher, while operating expenses and taxes increased 18.8 per cent.

The company had a net loss of $176,554 for the 12 months, against net income of $1,161,868 in the preceding 12 months. Operating revenues rose from $14,484,453 a year ago to $16,928,508. Operating expenses and taxes for the latest 12 month period were $17,246,636, against $13,131,753 a year earlier.

The New York Central railroad system reported net income for June yesterday of $2,871,385 compared with $804,943 for the same month last year. Net income for the first six months was $11,858,506 against a net loss of $576,136 for the corresponding period in 1940. The Southern Pacific system reported net income for the first six months of $13,835,285 against net loss of $5,255,754 for the same period last year.

STRIKES TIE UP MILLIONS MORE OF ARMS WORK

Tank and Gun Parts Makers Walk Out.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Two strikes, one by an American Federation of Labor union and the other by a Congress of Industrial Organizations union, prevented work yesterday on millions of dollars' worth of armament materials in the east.

A strike was called at the Mack Manufacturing company, Allentown, Pa., by the United Automobile Workers of America [CIO] and a union spokesman said the walkout was 100 per cent effective.

The company, which employs 4,700, holds orders for production of army trucks, gun carriages, tank parts, and other armament items. The contracts total several million dollars.

Propeller Workers Out.

An AFL machinists union which took over an unauthorized strike at the Caldwell, N. J., plant of the Curtiss-Wright corporation propeller division claimed that nearly all of the force working on 100 million dollars' worth of military orders had joined the walkout. A spokesman said only 50 of the 800 man day shift production workers went thru a picket line of several hundred this morning. He said 950 of the 1,000 production men were on strike. Salaried men and supervisors, he added, were now in the plant. A company representative said the plant was open and was operating, but made no estimate of how many were working.

The unauthorized walkout began with a demand for a 20 cent an hour wage increase. On Friday night the AFL union took official control of the strike and announced intention to appeal an NLRB election which was won by an independent union.

Painters Join Edison Strike.

AFL painters went on strike against the Consolidated Edison company in New York City and immediately joined picket lines thrown around company plants two weeks ago by AFL electrical installation workers.

At the same time, 7,000 members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers union, strike headquarters announced, returned to jobs thruout the city.

The painters' strike was called, union officers said, because "Edison uses non-union sign and house painters."

RED CAPS TO VOTE ON STRIKE.

A strike vote among the 3,500 Red Caps and railroad station porters of the nation has been authorized by a unanimous vote of the general executive board of the United Transport Service Employés of America, it was announced here yesterday.

A statement from union headquarters said that the vote was authorized after the railroads had rejected union demands for an increase from the basic wage of 36 cents an hour sufficient to bring it up to a 70 cent minimum.

BUSINESS LOANS RISE; BROKERS BORROW LESS

Business men borrowed more from banks in the week ended Aug. 6 than in the preceding week, but brokers and dealers in securities borrowed less, the federal reserve board reported yesterday.

Loans to brokers and dealers in securities declined 16 million dollars for the week to a total of 462 millions.

COAL SHORTAGE STILL POSSIBLE, ICKES WARNED

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11 (AP).—The bituminous coal division told Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes today that there still was cause for serious concern over the possibility of a coal shortage.

In making public the division's report, Ickes said the coal transportation facilities continued to be tight, with little margin of safety to absorb the shock of any substantial extra burden or emergency which might arise. He added that shipments to Great Lakes ports were approximately 21 per cent lower than last year while shipments via coastwise vessels to New England were approximately the same as a year ago despite increased coal demands.

RAIL WAGE MEETING CALLED FOR THURSDAY BY MEDIATION BOARD

Representatives of railroads and rail labor organizations were invited yesterday by the National Mediation board at Washington to confer at the Drake hotel in Chicago Thursday in an effort to settle a wage dispute deadlock.

The board offered its services to avert a strike after the railroad managements last week flatly refused to grant wage increases involving about 1,150,000 workers. The labor groups announced they would begin taking strike votes of their memberships. The negotiations had been in progress in Chicago since July 24.

The five operating brotherhoods, including engineers, firemen, trainmen and switchmen, are seeking pay increases of 30 per cent for some 350,000 employés in train service. Fourteen nonoperating unions, representing about 800,000 employés, have asked for wage boosts of from 30 to 34 cents an hour.

GAIN IN NATIONAL INCOME PLACED AT 14 PER CENT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11 (AP).—The commerce department said today that increases in salaries and wages were chiefly responsible for a 14 per cent gain in national income payments for the first half of 1941.

The department estimated salary and wage payments at $28,229,000,000, about $5,500,000,000 more than in the first half of 1940, and $2,500,000,000 higher than in the first half of predepression 1929.

Dividend payments were up 10 per cent, relief and social security payments declined a little, and withdrawn profits from nonincorporated businesses increased 7 per cent.

Total income payments in the six months were $41,482,000,000. Government statisticians recently figured that the June pace of payments was at an annual rate of $88,000,000,000. June payments were estimated at $7,650,000,000, or 12 per cent higher than in May.

Fall Market Wholesale Trade Best on Record

Wholesale selling during Chicago's fall market exceeded all previous years, even those of the 1929 boom era, the Chicago wholesale market council reported yesterday following a survey. The council said the survey of apparel manufacturers' sales showed orders booked totaled 40 per cent higher than previous good seasons.

STOCKS CANCEL MORE OF THEIR JULY ADVANCES

Losses Run to 2 Points in Stumbling Trade.

New York, Aug. 11 (AP).—The stock market in a stumbling performance today canceled a little more of its July gains. Losses running from fractions to a point or so were general at the close and it seemed many of the shares had fallen of their own weight, for selling at no time attained a sizable volume.

The action conformed to the pattern the list had worked out since the start of August. Daily swings have been narrow and without any progress on average. The Associated Press 60 stock composite ended .2 of a point lower at 43.1. Transfers were 447,330 shares, smallest since July 18, compared with Friday's 553,680.

News Dampens Initiative.

Buying initiative apparently was dampened by the day's run of news. Application of full priority control to steel suggested more industrial dislocations and financial quarters still felt uneasy on taxation and price control prospects. The mood of caution was accentuated by reported Russian reverses and far eastern fears.

Minus marks were posted for United States Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Goodrich, Consolidated Aircraft, Air Reduction, American Can, Johns-Manville and American Telephone. Minor improvement was shown by Standard Oil [N. J.], Texas corporation, Great Northern preferred and Pensylvania.

CHICAGO LIST SAGS.

Volume leaders were Commonwealth Edison, 2,000 shares, up ⅛ to 26¼. General Motors, 1,150, unchanged at 39½, Consolidated Oil, 800 shares, off ⅛ to 5⅞, and Libby, McNeill & Libby, 800 shares, up ⅛ to 5⅛.

WAY IS CLEARED FOR DOUBLING OF RAIL CAR OUTPUT

Budd Says 140,000 Are Needed in Year.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11 (AP).—The decree giving armament orders right of way over civilian steel needs clears the way for building 140,000 freight cars in the next year to handle the mounting flow of traffic, it was announced today.

Two major new steps to increase steel production were reported in the formative stage at the Office of Production Management.

One was to increase producing facilities by 15,000,000 tons annually, instead of 10,000,000 as recently recommended to the industry. Present capacity is estimated at 90,000,000 tons a year.

The other was to build immediately at least 25 Great Lakes ore boats, faster and larger than present carriers, to guarantee delivery of ore to blast furnaces at lake ports in quantities sufficient for newly recommended increases in pig iron producing capacity.

Double Year's Output.

The 140,000 unit freight car program, more than doubling production of the last 12 months, was reported necessary by Ralph Budd, transportation commissioner of the Office of Emergency Management.

Budd has warned that a 100,000 car building program planned for completion in October was running 11,000 to 12,000 cars behind schedule because of material shortages.

As an initial step in the additional boost in steel facilities the OPM has recommended that the Reconstruction Finance corporation provide funds for an enlargement of pig iron capacity by 6,508,000 tons annually to cost $176,000,000.

Shipments Set Records.

New York, Aug. 11 (AP).—Shipments of finished steel products by subsidiaries of United States Steel corporation in July and the first seven months of 1941 were the largest for the periods in the history of the corporation, it was announced today.

July shipments were 1,666,667 net tons, compared with 1,668,637 in June and 1,296,887 in July, 1940. Seven month shipments were 11,719,544 tons, compared with 7,585,285 in the parallel period of 1940.

The American Iron and Steel Institute reported today that operations in the steel industry will average 97.5 per cent of capacity this week, compared with 98.3 per cent last week.

PADDOCK TAKES ISSUE WITH SEC ON PENSION BILL

Asserts Its Criticism Was Misleading.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—Representative George A. Paddock [R., Ill.] took issue today with views expressed last week in a report to congress by the Securities and Exchange commission on a pending bill which would exempt employés' pension and other benefit plans from the securities act of 1933. Commenting on the bill which was introduced by Paddock in June, the SEC said:

"The [Paddock] bill would not only exempt employés' plans generally from the registration provisions of the act, but it would also deprive employés of the protection afforded by the fraud provisions of the act."

Calls Criticism Inaccurate.

Paddock charged that this statement is inaccurate and misleading. He said congress has repeatedly refused to give the SEC supervision over employés' plans. His bill, he explained, is designed merely to reiterate, in specific language, the stand congress has always taken on this question.

The text of his reply follows:

"The statement of the SEC is inaccurate and misleading. It is separated from the actual facts by a wide interval. There is now no provision in any act by which the Securities and Exchange commission has supervision over such employés' plans. Congress has carefully and repeatedly refrained from giving such supervision. All the employés' plans referred to in my bill are defined in other acts of congress which give full protection to the interests of both employers and employés. My bill merely restates, in specific language, what has been and is now the attitude of congress toward these employés' plans.

Says SEC Seeks More Power.

"The bill should be enacted because of the recent attempts of the Securities and Exchange commission to assume and acquire powers which congress has definitely withheld.

"While no instance has been cited of any fraud in these employés' plans which are so fully protected now by statutory requirements, any future cases which might arise would be fully dealt with by existing state statutes, with their civil and criminal liabilities. This is one of the situations where none of the interested parties desires or would benefit by long range burocratic supervision and control."

LARGER FEDERAL BUYING BOOSTS PRICES OF HOGS

Bolstered by last week's large pork contracts issued to packers under the lend-lease act, the market for hogs strengthened after a weak opening yesterday and closed a shade above last week's final quotations. The new contracts were the second largest in eleven weeks, and equivalent to about 13 per cent of the week's output of packers under federal inspection.

Both the top and average hog prices were the same as on Saturday, but closing sales showed upturns of 5 to 10 cents. The average price was $10.70.

AGENCY REJECTS PLAN TO UTILIZE WASTED POWER

Vital Metals to Be Used in Duplicating Service.

J. W. Carpenter.

J. W. Carpenter, president of Texas Power and Light company, in a report to stockholders yesterday disclosed how a WPA financed Texas state agency rejected the company's offer to utilize wasted water-power from the agency's dam, and instead tied it with a federal transmission line project that will duplicate company facilities and require large quantities of scarce metals.

Texas Power and Light, which offered to hook up the power to be passed on to armament plants by the Tennessee Valley authority, could have made the power available in 60 days by building a short connecting line from materials on hand, Carpenter said.

Much Metal Required.

The state-federally backed project, carrying duplicate facilities into territory served by the utility, will take a much longer time and require 2,500,000 pounds of copper or its equivalent in aluminum and 525,000 pounds of galvanized iron and steel, according to Carpenter.

His disclosure was made at a time when many factories making civilian goods and not adaptable to arms work are facing ruin because they cannot get such metals as will go into the duplicating power facilities.

The dam involved is the Possum Kingdom dam at Pickwick, Texas, part of the Brazos river project of the Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation district, a Texas agency partly financed with WPA funds. Water has been flowing over the spillway uselessly, because no transmission line is available, Carpenter said.

Awarded to Coöp.

"Despite repeated offers of the company to governmental agencies to make this power available, the power output of the dam has been contracted for by a federally financed transmission coöperative known as Brazos River Transmission Electric Coöperative, Inc.," Carpenter said.

"Instead of avoiding waste of this power by utilizing the Texas Power and Light system to carry the power to armament industries, the Rural Electrification administration in Washington, D. C., plans construction of the transmission lines of the Brazos River Transmission Electric Cooperative, to serve REA coöperatives now receiving from our company electric service of a high character and at one of the lowest rates charged REA coöperatives anywhere in the nation.

"At this time of emergency when copper, building materials and manpower are urgently needed for national defense, it is reported the REA plans to use in construction of these duplicate transmission lines more than 2,500,000 pounds of copper or its equivalent in aluminum, 525,000 pounds of galvanized iron and steel, and more than 250,000 man hours of labor."

MATERIALS LACK MAKES 800 G. E. WORKERS IDLE

Other Firms Are Forced to Lay Off Help.

General Electric company's Erie, Pa., works announced yesterday that it has laid off 800 employés of its refrigerator department for at least two weeks to await delivery of various materials. The company said the layoff may be extended if the materials, needed for new model refrigerators, cannot be obtained. Other departments making gun mounts and turbines may absorb some of the 800, it was said.

A spokesman for a group of household washing machine makers said at Washington, D. C., that as a result of a prospective 30 per cent production cut his industry faced the necessity of discharging a large number of its best workers. W. Neal Galagher, president of the Automatic Washer company of Newton, Ia., told officials of the Office of Production Management and the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply that the washing machine industry had "found little opportunity to assign any of our men" to armament work.

Steel Users Worried.

Meantime companies making nonmilitary steel products looked ahead to the necessity of operating on a hand to mouth basis after the new steel priority decree of the Office of Production Management goes into effect.

It has been the practice of manufacturers of such consumer goods as automobiles, refrigerators, and washing machines to buy raw materials months ahead. From now on, however, the big users of steel will be able to put into civilian items only such steel as is left after armament needs are met. The automobile industry was said to be feeling the pinch of the copper shortage also.

Decision not to accept any additional orders at the present time was announced by Mead corporation, maker of paper and paperboard. The company said that large orders from the government, in addition to its regular business, have piled up more contracts than the company can fill during the rest of this year.

TEMPORARY RULE OF PRICE IS AIM, HENDERSON SAYS

Contends Enterprise to Stay Free.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11 (AP).—Leon Henderson, head of the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply, contended today that enactment of the proposed price control bill would not necessitate the destruction of free enterprise. He conceded it would "temporarily suspend the free play of supply and demand."

Responding to questions by Representative Jesse P. Wolcott [R., Mich.] before the house banking committee Henderson said he did not believe it would be necessary to destroy markets or even eliminate competition to achieve the purpose of the bill.

Cites World War Experience.

The witness declared that free enterprise was not destroyed by the regulations imposed during the first World war. But Wolcott contended that there was a vast difference in the two situations, adding that in 1917, the public believed that emergency powers granted the government would be returned to the people when the emergency was ended.

In response to questions, Henderson said he thought that in event of a 50 per cent reduction in automobile production, there would be a necessity for establishing a "ceiling" on the prices of second hand cars.

Allocation Problem "Tough."

As to allocation of the supply of new cars, Henderson conceded the problem would be "pretty tough" but expressed confidence that a fair system could be worked out.

ICC AUTHORIZES BARGE-RAIL RATE BOOST ON GRAINS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11 [Special].—The Interstate Commerce commission today permitted railroads to cancel existing re-shipping rates on grain shipped into Chicago by barge line and increase rates 1.5 to 8.5 cents a hundred pounds. The railroads first proposed the change as of Oct. 15, 1939, but the action was suspended by the ICC for investigation.

The decision held, that since barge lines were not subject to ICC regulation, movement to Chicago by barge and out again by rail comprised two separate movements, and that they could not be placed on a "proportional" rate basis. The ruling does not affect grain brought to Chicago by lake vessels and shipped by rail.

STRIKES TIE UP MILLIONS MORE OF ARMS ORDERS

tion failed to resolve differences between the company and the Steel Workers Organizing committee [CIO]. The union claims approximately 800 of the 1,000 odd production employés. Its demands include reclassification of the wage scale, a closed shop and higher wages.

Stockyards Work Halted.

A stockyard strike closed the Detroit live stock market. The walkout was ordered by the AFL teamsters' union to enforce its demand for bargaining rights for employés in the Michigan Central railroad's stockyard. Its demand for recognition is disputed by the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks.

The Kerber Packing company's meat packing plant just south of Elgin, Ill., was ordered shutdown, effective today because of a dispute between AFL and CIO union groups as to which shall organize the 100 workmen employed there. The strike was called by the AFL Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen.

A defense mediation board panel began hearings on the strike of CIO electrical workers at the Barberton, O., plant of the Ohio Brass company and a threatened strike at the Mansfield, O., plant of the same company.
